Alabama Twister Fatal To 4

OZARK, Ala. (AP) — A tornado smashed through two trailer parks near the huge Army base at Ft. Rucker in springlike weather today, killing four persons and injuring more than 60.

State troopers and a spokesman for the state Civil Defense office said four were known dead. Eighteen of the injured were admitted to hospitals at Ft. Rucker and nearby Enterprise. The others were treated for minor injuries and discharged.

The twister also struck an Army airfield at Rucker, destroying eight UH1 helicopters on the ground and heavily damaging two others. No one was reported injured at the airfield.

The Civil Defense spokesman said 50 house trailers were wrecked and another 30 damaged.

The twister struck first the Pine Brook and Dogwood Acres trailer parks between Ozark and Enterprise, occupied mostly by military personnel, then hit again at Lower Army Air Field on the Ft. Rucker reservation.

Fifteen of the injured were admitted to an Army hospital, the Rucker Public Information Office said, and "50 to 65 others" were treated for minor injuries and discharged.

State troopers set up a command post at one of the trailer parks in a building once used as an automatic laundry.

Heavy rain which began again shortly before 3 a.m. made rescue operations difficult.

Bulldozers and heavy tractors were moved in to pry the twisted metal trailer frames apart to see if anyone was trapped in the debris.

Deputy Sheriff C. F. Skipper at Ozark, who joined in the rescue efforts, said "it's terrible. Those trailers were just carried all over creation, possibly 50 to 75 of them, a rough estimate."

Skipper said emergency Army crews and law enforcement officers from surrounding communities rushed in to lend assistance and "we've got all kinds of help."

The deputy said the tornado struck Pine Brook and Dogwood Acres trailer courts just outside the Rucker reservation. It touched down later at Lowe Army Airfield at Rucker, destroying two UH1 helicopters on the ground and heavily damaging two others. Rucker is the home of the Army Aviation Center.

Wallace Joins Demo Hopefuls As Candidate

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — George C. Wallace formally announced as a Democratic candidate for president today and called for a grass roots movement to wrest control of the party from "so-called intellectual snobs."

Wallace, the 52-year-old governor of Alabama, chose the capital of a large Southern state with a key March 14 presidential primary election to make the announcement.

"Our offering is a new beginning of hope for the American people," Wallace said in remarks prepared for a news conference in the Capitol's Senate chamber.

Wallace, who ran third behind President Nixon and Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey as the American Independent party candidate in 1968, said he intended to keep his name on the Florida ballot as a Democratic candidate.

He said Floridians have a "unique opportunity" in choosing from among the 12 Democrats, including Humphrey, nominated to be on the ballot by Secretary of State Richard Stone.

"They can start the grass roots movement to take back the national Democratic party unto themselves. Too long this party has been controlled by the so-called intellectual snobs who feel that big government should control the lives of American citizens from the cradle to the grave," the governor said.

Wallace coupled his 1972 platform with a broadside attack on "those in Congress" also seeking the White House. That includes 8 of the 12 Democrats currently on the Florida ballot.

Wallace also proposed "peace through strength" and military forces "second to none."

Army Takes Control Of Ghana

LONDON (AP) — The army has seized power in Ghana again and dismissed Prime Minister Kofi Busia, the British Broadcasting Corp. reported today.

The BBC said the coup was announced by Ghana Radio. The broadcast said Busia, who was Mrs. Richard Nixon's host last week, was dismissed for malpractice and economic mismanagement.

The army announcement said the situation was under control and appealed to the people to remain calm.

The army first intervened in Ghanaian politics in February 1966 when, in collaboration with the police, it deposed President Kwame Nkrumah while he was on a visit to Communist China.

The ruling junta started a return to civilian rule with parliamentary elections in August 1969 in which Busia's Progressive party won 105 of the 140 seats. Busia became prime minister on Sept. 3, 1969.

The junta retained supervisory presidential powers until July 30, 1970, when the National Assembly elected former Chief Justice Edward Akufo-Addo president.

Ghana, a member of the British Commonwealth on the under side of the West African bulge, has recently been suffering from inflation, and there have been expressions of discontent among the people. Busia was criticized for making strenuous efforts to repay the foreign debt of nearly $800 million that Nkrumah ran up, instead of improving domestic conditions at home.

Nationwide FBI Search Under Way

Hunt Ex-GI As Bank Bomber

WASHINGTON (AP) — A man described as an AWOL Army private with a Ph.D. from Stanford University has been charged in connection with the planting of time bombs in three San Francisco banks, the FBI announced today.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover identified the suspect as Ronald Kaufman, who has been charged in a federal warrant issued in San Francisco with maliciously attempting to damage and destroy the three banks.

Kaufman, who is still at large, was identified through fingerprints found on various bomb components taken from the bank safe deposit boxes, Hoover said.

The announcement said Kaufman, 33, was born in Milwaukee, Wis., and lived in Berkeley, Calif., until July 1971, shortly before he re-enlisted in the Army.

He took a 30-day leave from Ft. Polk, La., Dec. 9, with orders to report to Ft. Jackson, S.C., Jan. 9 for shipment overseas, the agency said. There is no record that he reported to Ft. Jackson.

Last Friday, letters postmarked in Chicago were received by newspapers and a television station in Chicago and San Francisco disclosing the presence of bombs planted in bank safe deposit boxes in those two cities and New York. They claimed the bombs were part of a radical new strategy to force the release of "political prisoners."

Police found time bombs in two San Francisco banks, three in Chicago and three in New York. One which exploded Labor Day weekend in San Francisco but had been kept secret apparently was part of the plot.

A photo of Kaufman released by the FBI showed a thin, smiling face, clean-shaven except for long sideburns and unkempt hair reaching over the ears and collar. The FBI said the photo was taken recently.

The agency said Kaufman "is reported to have attended Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) conventions in Clear Lake, Iowa, in 1966 and Ann Arbor, Mich., in 1967."

The agency said he served in the Army under his own name from February 1956 through February 1958—about the time he became eligible to serve—and re-enlisted at St. Louis, Mo., last Aug. 10 under the name James Edward Jensen.

Hoover said conviction on the announced charges and unspecified "related charges" could carry a sentence of up to 81 years' imprisonment and $90,000 in fines.

The FBI described Kaufman as a white male, 5 feet 11 inches tall, 168 pounds with brown hair and brown eyes. It said he "should be considered armed and dangerous."

Extensive China TV Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's trip to Peking next month may be the biggest live television spectacular since man first stepped onto the moon in mid-1969.

The White House announced Wednesday there will be "some live television transmission" from Peking, the capital of the Communist country isolated from Washington for nearly 25 years and never visited by a U.S. president.

What the White House did not say was that Americans and Chinese are cooperating in a TV game plan so extensive that much of Nixon's activities while in Peking can be beamed live to the President's election-year audience at home.

As an example, there is a plan to fly three mobile TV units—each the size of a large transit bus and one for each network—from the United States to mainland China.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said the Chinese have agreed to set up—at their expense—a communications ground station capable of transmitting live TV and radio reports plus newspaper pictures and stories.

The American-owned ground station, used most recently for coverage of Iran's 2,500th anniversary of the Persian Empire last autumn, will be removed after Nixon's visit.

Ziegler, who returned from an advance trip to China earlier this week, reported the President's hosts have erected "in a very short time" a complete broadcast production center—further evidence of the extensive video coverage contemplated.

A sizable advance contingent of communications specialists and network representatives will leave Feb. 1 to set up and operate the temporary communications system.

Ziegler said the White House press party—which will not include those leaving Feb. 1—will number about 80.

Ziegler conceded that this will be only a quarter of the newsmen, photographers and technicians who normally accompany the President on international journeys.

However, he said "we are very pleased with the number" (Continued on Page 2)

Israeli Scandal, Corruption Worries Citizens, Officials

TEL AVIV (AP) — Ask an Israeli what's on his mind these tense days in the Middle East, and chances are he won't talk about the Arabs or war. He is worried about scandals and corruption.

The latest scandal bubbled to the surface with the arrest of three scientists from the government's Volcani Institute for agricultural research. They are allegedly connected with bribes given to secure government approval of suspect cheese products.

Suspect cheese doesn't seem like much of a scandal, but it ties in with a lot of others. Recent reports said one food company alone paid hundreds of fines last year for marketing products containing dead mice, old bandages and other unsavory morsels.

The building trade has been under such heavy suspicion of scandal and excess profits that the contractors' federation took out a big newspaper ad appealing for sympathy. "All the contractors want is a fair and reasonable profit," it pleaded.

A government commission has been probing for seven weeks into the biggest scandal of all, involving alleged fraud—plus sex orgies—in the government's Netivei Neft Oil Co. The company exploits the remote Sinai Desert oilfields captured from Egypt in the 1967 war.

Press comment on the oilfields case and several others has been so shrill that the government is upset. Premier Golda Meir warned last month that the "campaign of slander and lynching" could lead to fascism or Communist-style people's courts in Israel.

Some Israelis fear the very fabric of the Jewish state is fraying, and ask whether the frontier spirit that built Israel is fading away.

Others argue the scandals mean little and that the Israeli spirit is still aflame.

"The war fever is quiet for the moment, we have had relative peace for a while, and people these days find the time to talk about things like this," said one university student.

The scandal talk involves things big and little. A Health Ministry survey claimed many Israeli doctors don't wash their hands between operations. Tel Aviv's chief municipal inspector resigned after his home was bombed while he was cracking down on unlicensed street peddlers.

When an ancient building housing the Supreme Rabbinate Court collapsed in Jerusalem, some rabbis accused architects of deliberately undermining it so they could dig at the ruins below.

Reds Hit South Viet Posts; U.S. Planes, Missiles Duel

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces hit more South Vietnamese outposts today on the third day of intensified ground action, and U.S. fighter-bombers exchanged missiles with anti-aircraft batteries inside North Vietnam for the first time this year.

Twenty-six more enemy ground attacks were reported in South Vietnam for the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. This brought the three-day total to 86, the most in more than three months.

The government said 33 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops and 15 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed. Twenty-five government soldiers and six civilians were reported wounded.

In the air war, two Air Force F105 fighter escorts launched three missiles at a surface-to-air missile site and an adjoining anti-aircraft artillery battery after a SAM was fired at the American planes, the U.S. Command said.

The results of the American attack were unknown and there was no damage to the U.S. aircraft, the command said.

The action occurred near the Ban Karai pass, about 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

Although it was the fifth so-called "protective reaction" strike inside North Vietnam this year, it was the first time that missiles had been exchanged in North Vietnam, the U.S. Command said.

In the ground fighting, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese hit at least four government posts with strong attacks.

A battalion of some 200 Viet Cong troops got to within 10 miles of the coastal city of Qui Nhon, the capital of Binh Dinh Province 275 miles northeast of Saigon. They attacked a militia post, killing 10 South Vietnamese soldiers and wounding 13. Enemy losses were not known.

Other enemy attacks came in the central coastal area, the Mekong Delta and 20 miles southwest of Saigon along the main road to the Delta.

The hijacker, armed with a .22-caliber pistol and carrying a small travel bag which he said contained dynamite, took control of the plane and its 94 passengers on a flight from Houston to Minneapolis.

Only clothing and ammunition for the pistol were found later.

The hijacker allowed the passengers to disembark after the plane landed at Dallas, but the crew was held in the plane.

Donald Roberts of Mission, Kan., a sales manager for the Remington electric shaver company, was sitting by the hijacker during the flight.

Roberts said the hijacker had asked him who he worked for and when he replied, the young man said: "I work for the devil and I'm going to go straight to hell and take everybody with me."

Red Student Leaves U.S. After Delay

NEW YORK (AP) — A Russian exchange student who slashed his throat and wrists at Kennedy airport last Sunday flew home today after a six-hour diplomatic tug-of-war ended with U.S. officials convinced that he was leaving of his own accord.

"It is my judgment that he is going of his own free will," said Samuel Zutty, investigator for the U.S. Immigration Service, after he and other U.S. officials interviewed Merab Kurashvili, 26, at the airport early today.

The U.S. authorities had delayed the scheduled 8:30 p.m. departure of the Soviet Aeroflot airliner for six hours while insisting they be allowed to talk to Kurashvili. Soviet officials said the plane would not depart without the student.

Crewmen Flee, Man Surrenders

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A young gunman who told a fellow passenger "I work for the devil and I'm going straight to hell and take everyone with me" commandeered a jetliner in a dramatic hijacking effort that ended with the crew making a mad scramble for freedom.

The hijacker had demanded $1 million and two parachutes and indicated he wanted to go fly to South America where he planned to bail out into the jungle.

"We got a chance to run and we ran like hell," said Capt. Tom Hill, who along with six other crew members escaped from the Braniff 727 jetliner following nearly seven hours of captivity on a remote runway at the Dallas airport.

Air piracy charges were to be filed today against Billy Eugene Hurst, 22, of Mesquite, Tex., who was arrested without resistance about 30 minutes after the crew made their break for freedom.

The hijacker, armed with a .22-caliber pistol and carrying a small travel bag which he said contained dynamite, took control of the plane and its 94 passengers on a flight from Houston to Minneapolis.

Only clothing and ammunition for the pistol were found later.

TICKETS have been "all sold out" for weeks for the annual dinner of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce ... The dinner, slated for 6:30 p.m. next Wednesday, will feature Ray Monsalvatge as guest speaker ... If you did not get a ticket, it's too late — there will be no ticket sales at the door ... An expected 360 guests will be on hand for the big event.

THE move Jan. 3 of the Adult Probation office to the former offices of the County Superintendent of Schools in the courthouse was skipped over when it occurred ... But repair work is still under way (it took at least two weeks to get both offices painted), so we will mention the new location with the fact that new light fixtures and electrical outlets are being installed today ... The change resulted in a great deal more space for the office which previously took a section of the county law library.

The law library now is getting a new look, too ... Carpeting is being laid there today.

Speedy Action On Tax Relief Said Necessary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert J. Kosydar, state tax commissioner, has told the Ohio General Assembly it must take speedy action to prevent any loss of real property tax relief just granted under the new state tax bill.

Kosydar, in a statement submitted Wednesday to the Senate Ways and Means Committee, said the General Assembly must pass legislation to implement the recent equal assessment ruling ordered by the Board of Tax Appeals.

"This is a legislative problem that must be solved quickly," said Kosydar, "and unless immediate action is taken the property tax relief just granted could be wiped out."

He referred to an across-the-board 10 per cent rollback of all real property taxes, effective with the June tax bill, and the homestead exemption for persons 65 and over.

Ohio Assembly Again Bogs Down Over Major Issues

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 109th General Assembly, unable to resolve three controversial issues, bogged down in a fourth Wednesday.

A hectic session left unresolved — A compromise redistricting plan to reapportion Ohio into 23 congressional districts.

— A bill to repeal the 51-year-old law that would require five men, including a fireman, on diesel locomotives pulling freight trains through Ohio.

A new controversy arose when Senate Republicans voted by secret ballot to put Kenneth Berry, a Coshocton attorney, in the seat vacated by Sen. James Leedy, R-19 Wooster, who resigned.

Veteran legislators said it was the first time in recent history that the Legislature had gone against the choice of county chairmen.

Thomas Van Meter, 28, an Ashland College deputy registrar, was recommended for the seat by eight of the 11 county GOP chairmen at a meeting two weeks ago.

Sen. Robin Turner, R-14 Marion, said the switch to Berry, a House and Senate member until his defeat in the 1966 primary, was masterminded by State Republican Chairman John Andrews.

Several county Republican chairmen, in town to attend a meeting of the party's state executive committee Wednesday, voiced dismay at the selection.

Dale Bricker of Mansfield, secretary of the Richland County Republican Executive Committee, suggested Andrews should be removed from his job.

"John Andrews doesn't want youth in the party," he said.

"Andrews would not support county chairmen and on the contrary he opposed them."

Van Meter, a one-time assistant to U.S. Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Johnstown, is 28. Berry, who served in the House from 1947-58 and then spent two terms in the Senate, is in his mid-50s.

Van Meter, at a late-night news conference, said he would run for the seat in the May primary. He said several county chairmen would file complaints with GOP state headquarters at the Thursday meeting.

"We've had our run-ins with John Andrews before," said Van Meter, co-chairman of the Ashland County GOP Executive Committee.

He said the Ashland County Republican organization cut off funds to state headquarters for six months at one time in order to get Andrews to explain the Republican Party position on some issues.

The redistricting bill, already approved by both Republican and Democratic headquarters, ran into its third roadblock in as many days. It is expected to come up again Thursday.

The bill's troubles began after the Senate Elections and Retirement Committee adopted five amendments over the House-passed version. A few hours later, the committee reconvened to eliminate all the amendments but one.

The bill went to the Senate floor where it failed by one vote to get the necessary 22 votes to pass as emergency legislation, meaning it would become effective upon signing by the governor.

forces hit more South Vietnamese outposts today on the third day of intensified ground attack, and U.S. fighter-bombers exchanged missiles with anti-aircraft batteries inside North Vietnam for the first time this year.

Twenty-six more enemy ground attacks were reported in South Vietnam for the 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. This brought the three-day total to 86, the most in more than three months.

The government said 33 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops and 15 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed. Twenty-five government soldiers and six civilians were reported wounded.

In the air war, two Air Force F105 fighter escorts launched three missiles at a surface-to-air missile site and an adjoining anti-aircraft artillery battery after a SAM was fired at the American planes, the U.S. Command said.

The results of the American attack were unknown and there was no damage to the U.S. aircraft, the command said.

The action occurred near the Ban Karai pass, about 40 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

Although it was the fifth so-called "protective reaction" strike inside North Vietnam this year, it was the first time that missiles had been exchanged in North Vietnam, the U.S. Command said.

In the ground fighting, the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese hit at least four government posts with strong attacks.

A battalion of some 200 Viet Cong troops got to within 10 miles of the coastal city of Qui Nhon, the capital of Binh Dinh Province 275 miles northeast of Saigon. They attacked a militia post, killing 10 South Vietnamese soldiers and wounding 13. Enemy losses were not known.

Other enemy attacks came in the central coastal area, the Mekong Delta and 20 miles southwest of Saigon along the main road to the Delta.

The hijacker, armed with a .22-caliber pistol and carrying a small travel bag which he said contained dynamite, took control of the plane and its 94 passengers on a flight from Houston to Minneapolis.

Only clothing and ammunition for the pistol were found later.

The hijacker allowed the passengers to disembark after the plane landed at Dallas, but the crew was held in the plane.

Donald Roberts of Mission, Kan., a sales manager for the Remington electric shaver company, was sitting by the hijacker during the flight.

Roberts said the hijacker had asked him who he worked for and when he replied, the young man said: "I work for the devil and I'm going to go straight to hell and take everybody with me."

Skyjack Bid Proves Failure

Crewmen Flee, Man Surrenders

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A young gunman who told a fellow passenger "I work for the devil and I'm going straight to hell and take everyone with me" commandeered a jetliner in a dramatic hijacking effort that ended with the crew making a mad scramble for freedom.

The hijacker had demanded $1 million and two parachutes and indicated he wanted to go fly to South America where he planned to bail out into the jungle.

"We got a chance to run and we ran like hell," said Capt. Tom Hill, who along with six other crew members escaped from the Braniff 727 jetliner following nearly seven hours of captivity on a remote runway at the Dallas airport.

Air piracy charges were to be filed today against Billy Eugene Hurst, 22, of Mesquite, Tex., who was arrested without resistance about 30 minutes after the crew made their break for freedom.

Red Student Leaves U.S. After Delay

NEW YORK (AP) — A Russian exchange student who slashed his throat and wrists at Kennedy airport last Sunday flew home today after a six-hour diplomatic tug-of-war ended with U.S. officials convinced that he was leaving of his own accord.

"It is my judgment that he is going of his own free will," said Samuel Zutty, investigator for the U.S. Immigration Service, after he and other U.S. officials interviewed Merab Kurashvili, 26, at the airport early today.

The U.S. authorities had delayed the scheduled 8:30 p.m. departure of the Soviet Aeroflot airliner for six hours while insisting they be allowed to talk to Kurashvili. Soviet officials said the plane would not depart without the student.

The dinner, slated for 6:30 p.m. next Wednesday, will feature Ray Monsalvatge as guest speaker ... If you did not get a ticket, it's too late — there will be no ticket sales at the door ... An expected 360 guests will be on hand for the big event.

THE move Jan. 3 of the Adult Probation office to the former offices of the County Superintendent of Schools in the courthouse was skipped over when it occurred ... But repair work is still underway (it took at least two weeks to get both offices painted), so we will mention the new location with the fact that new light fixtures and electrical outlets are being installed today ... The change resulted in a great deal more space for the office which previously took a section of the county law library.

The law library now is getting a new look, too ... Carpeting is being laid there today.

Speedy Action

On Tax Relief

Said Necessary

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert J. Kosydar, state tax commissioner, has told the Ohio General Assembly it must take speedy action to prevent any loss of real property tax relief just granted under the new state tax bill.

Kosydar, in a statement submitted Wednesday to the Senate Ways and Means Committee, said the General Assembly must pass legislation to implement the recent equal assessment ruling ordered by the Board of Tax Appeals.

"This is a legislative problem that must be solved quickly," said Kosydar, "and unless immediate action is taken the property tax relief just granted could be wiped out."

He referred to an across-the-board 10 per cent rollback of all real property taxes, effective with the June tax bill, and the homestead exemption for persons 65 and over.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 109th General Assembly, unable to resolve three controversial issues, bogged down in a fourth Wednesday.

A hectic session left unsolved — A compromise redistricting plan to reapportion Ohio into 23 congressional districts.

— A bill to repeal the 51-year-old law that would require five men, including a fireman, on diesel locomotives pulling freight trains through Ohio.

A new controversy arose when Senate Republicans voted by secret ballot to put Kenneth Berry, a Coshocton attorney, in the seat vacated by Sen. James Leedy, R-19 Wooster, who resigned.

Veteran legislators said it was the first time in recent history that the Legislature had gone against the choice of county chairmen.

Thomas Van Meter, 28, an Ashland College deputy registrar, was recommended for the seat by eight of the 11 county GOP chairmen at a meeting two weeks ago.

Sen. Robin Turner, R-14 Marion, said the switch to Berry, a House and Senate member until his defeat in the 1966 primary, was masterminded by State Republican Chairman John Andrews.

Several county Republican chairmen, in town to attend a meeting of the party's state executive committee Wednesday, voiced dismay at the selection.

Ziegler said 80 was much more than the Chinese originally had in mind and represented at least a seven-fold increase over the largest press contingent ever to go to Peking with a head of state.

Asked if there would be press censorship, Ziegler replied, "Absolutely not."

Visiting Americans will be free to roam about the three cities Nixon will visit—Peking, Hangchow and Shanghai—for sightseeing, man-in-the-street interviews or shopping, Ziegler said.

"I don't foresee any restrictive-type measures," he added. Nixon, accompanied by wife Pat, will arrive in Peking Feb. 21 and leave from Shanghai Feb. 28. It will be the President's longest visit to another country.

Ziegler indicated live TV coverage will be limited to Peking. The ground station, being installed at the Peking airport, will be unable to pick up other communications from Hangchow and Shanghai.

While in China, Ziegler said, Nixon may visit the Great Wall, the Ming Tombs and the Forbidden City, all in or near Peking; an industrial exhibition in Shanghai and a scenic lake dotted with parkland islands near Hangchow.

American newsmen making the trip will be guests at all official banquets given the Chinese for the President and Mrs. Nixon, the press secretary reported.

The press corps, he said, also will travel while in China aboard Chinese aircraft made in Russia.

Asked if the Nixons would venture aboard Russian planes, he said, "We don't have details to provide you now."

Groppi Contempt Conviction Voided By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The contempt conviction of the Rev. James Groppi by the Wisconsin legislature in 1969 was reversed 7 to 0 today by the Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said the punishment, without hearing the militant priest, violated constitutional procedures. The fact that Groppi was held in contempt two days after his allegedly contemptuous conduct was a major factor in the court's ruling.

Groppi was held in contempt by the Wisconsin Assembly Oct. 1, 1969, for his part in a welfare demonstration that blocked the legislature for about 12 hours two days earlier. At the time the resolution was passed Groppi was in the Dane County jail on disorderly conduct charges arising from the same incident.

The contempt resolution was adopted without giving the priest an opportunity to present a defense.

State Hospital Security Tighter

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Tighter security arrangements were being imposed on one ward at Lima State Hospital today but Dr. T. J. Reshetko, hospital superintendent, termed it "interference."

Under authority of Dr. Kenneth Gaver, director-designate of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown ordered an Ohio Highway Patrol officer on 24-hour duty in Ward 10.

That is the ward where male patients, who are to be witnesses in trials of former employees accused of mistreating inmates, are currently sequestered. Gaver extended the latitude of the attorney general in making strict security arrangements for the ward.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barriers to school desegregation continue to crumble in the South but remain solid in the North and are being rebuilt along the Mason-Dixon line, the government says. The U.S. Office for Civil Rights released figures Tuesday showing that the 11 Southern states for the first time have fewer Negro pupils in all-black schools than does the North, and have widened the gap over the North in the number of blacks in predominantly white schools. Integration virtually has halted in the last four years in the 32 Northern and Western states, the six border states and in the District of Columbia, the report discloses.

With his hands thrust deep in his pocket and his head down, Kurashvily made no reply to the shouted questions from a crowd of newsmen as he moved toward the plane. The airliner departed at 2:37 a.m.

After he slashed himself on Sunday, Kurashvily was taken to Jamaica Hospital in Queens by Port Authority police. He reportedly told them he did not want asylum but had slashed himself "because I did not like myself at the time."

Kurashvily and another Russian student had left Berkeley, Calif., where they were attending the University of California, after a food store manager accused them of shoplifting. The charges were later dropped, but they said they were humiliated.

Stock List Goes Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices slid downward in the stock market today, in active trading. Declines were registered in a broad range of issues, especially the blue chips.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped 6.24 to 904.58 at noon.

Advances topped declines on the Big Board, about 4 to 1.

Today's early downtrend was a continuation of the direction the market took in the late hours Wednesday, when profit taking wiped out substantial gains in many issues, particularly the blue chips.

To most traders the minus signs were less than surprising, as many of them had been anticipating a "correction" to slow down the more or less steady advances of recent weeks.

Rubber issues, electronics, and airlines were lower. Some of the oils, utilities, and steels were down. Glamour issues were mixed, as were rails.

The Associated Press average of 60 corporate issues was down 2.2 to 331.0 at noon. Industrials sagged 3.4 to 484, rails were off 1.4 to 190.3, and utilities eased down .7 to 141.9.

Sen. Robin Turner To Seek Re-Election

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Robin Turner, R-14 Marion, announced Wednesday he will seek re-election in the new 26th District. His opponent in the Republican primary is expected to be Sen. Paul Gillmor, R-12 Tiffin.

Turner and Gillmor were thrown into the same district by reapportionment of legislative boundaries. Gillmor has said he will make a formal announcement of candidacy within two weeks.

Job Bureau Reorganization Takes Effect; 8 New Districts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The long-planned reorganization of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services, establishing eight new districts, becomes effective Jan. 24, the bureau announced today.

Bureau Administrator William Barnes said the plan, which has won federal approval, calls for creation of the new district, each to be supervised by a district manager and field staff.

He said it would enable the bureau to "achieve the goal of establishing more uniform and a higher quality of service through tighter administrative controls."

Under the plan, local office managers will be responsible to the district managers, and the district managers to the central office in Columbus.

Currently, more than 100 local office managers report directly to the central office to receive instructions and provide information.

Garnes said this was a cumbersome organization which provide little change for efficient operation. District organization, he said, will make the bureau more responsive and more accountable.

The district lineup will be: District 1—All OBES offices in Hamilton, (Cincinnati) Clermont, Brown, Adams, Highland, Clinton, Warren and Butler Counties.

District 2 — Montgomery (Dayton), Preble, Greene, Clark, Miami, Darke, Mercer, Auglaize, Shelby, Logan and Champaign Counties.

District 3—Lucas (Toledo), Allen (Lima), Williams, Fulton, Ottawa, Defiance, Henry, Wood, Sandusky, Paulding, Putnam, Hancock, Seneca, Van Wert and Hardin Counties.

District 4—Lorain (Lorain-Ellyria), Erie, Huron, Wyandot, Crawford, Richland, Ashland, Marion, Morrow and Knox Counties.

District 6 — Stark (Canton), Holmes, Tuscarawas, Carroll, Coshocton, Harrison, Jefferson, Muskingum, Guernsey, Belmont, Perry, Morgan, Noble, Washington, Monroe and Wayne Counties.

An admission counselor from Baldwin-Wallace College will visit Teays Valley High School Jan. 26 to meet with guidance counselors and to speak with students interested in attending college.

The counselor, Brenda Kirk, will visit the school beginning 1:30 on that date and offer information regarding entrance requirements and admission procedures at Baldwin-Wallace. She will discuss the college's academic programs, physical plant and activities available for Baldwin-Wallace students.

Baldwin-Wallace College is located in Berea, ten miles southwest of Cleveland. A liberal arts institution with 29 departments, the co-educational, residential college has an enrollment of 2,325 students and a student-professor ratio of 16:1.

Juvenile Court Hearings Held

The month-old son of a Circleville woman was placed in the custody of the Pickaway County Children's Welfare Board when the mother was ruled unable to provide proper care.

A 16-year-old boy appeared in juvenile court on a charge of excessive absence from school and truancy. He was ordered to spend three weekends in detention and his probation, set in 1970 for a similar offense, was continued until 1975.

David E. Jones, 17, Lock-bourne Road, Columbus, was arrested here for operating an unsafe vehicle and his case transferred to Franklin County juvenile authorities for final determination. The youth's auto was found to have a defective exhaust system and bald tires and lacked windshield wiper blades and a license plate light.

Officer Finds Slain Girl His Niece

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Lt. Raymond Pecheone was one of the first policemen to arrive at a murder scene where a 19-year-old girl had been tied to a tree and stabbed repeatedly. The victim, Joanne Pecheone, was his niece.

Joanne had been bound to a tree in a lonely wooded area with shoelaces and pieces of rawhide. Half of her clothes had been torn off. The coroner says she may have been raped. Bloodhounds were used Wednesday to search for clues in the hilly area where Joanne was killed.

The daughter of a Proctor High School driver-education teacher, her body was found less than an hour after her death, Dr. Charles Brady, the coroner, estimated. Two young snowmobilers found Joanne's body.

Her uncle was led away from the scene by his colleagues and replaced on the case.

Brady said Joanne had been killed about 3 p.m. Her textbooks were found strewn about the site where the body was discovered.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voluntary enlistments fell below the armed services objectives during the last half of 1971, a time when the draft was taking very few men.

This could spell trouble for Nixon administration hopes of ending the draft and changing to an all-volunteer force by mid-1973.

The coming months should indicate whether about $3 billion in new military pay boosts will attract enough additional volunteers. These boosts became effective too late to have any significant impact on recruitment totals in 1971.

Pentagon figures show that the services recruited 195,300 new men in the July-December period, about 17,000 fewer than their objective.

Maltese Mob Stones Office Of Newspaper On Island

VALLETTA, Malta (AP) — Supporters of Prime Minister Dom Mintoff stoned the office of a pro-British newspaper Wednesday night, roughed up an opposition leader's son and spat on a statue of Queen Victoria as the deadline for Min-toff's eviction order to British forces neared.

About 300 persons detached themselves from 2,000 pro-government marchers and hurled stones through the windows of the Times of Malta. The statue of a former prime minister sympathetic to Britain was torn down and a statue of Queen Victoria spat upon.

At another point in the city some of Mintoff's Laborites set upon the son of former Prime Minister George Borg Olivier, leader of the opposition Nationalist party, and a free-for-all developed.

When the Laborites took to the streets, the Nationalists called off a meeting scheduled to protest Mintoff's campaign to oust the British unless they meet his financial demands.

Mintoff has ordered British forces off the Mediterranean island by Jan. 15 because of London's refusal to meet his demand for $46.8 million a year for continued use of Malta's naval base and airfields. Britain has said it will not complete evacuation of its 3,500 military personnel until March 31, the date London says its current lease expires.

After the demonstration, Paul Naudi, the government information director, said British occupation of the bases past Saturday will be regarded as an illegal presence and his government "certainly will sound out the U.N. Security Council and the Council of Europe."

Naudi said Mintoff is confident arrangements will be made to provide the money he needs even if Britain won't pay it.

"Malta has good friends in NATO and other countries," he said. "Libya is a good friend of Malta, and Malta at the moment is also in contact with some NATO countries."

"I don't foresee any restrictive-type measures," he added.

Nixon, accompanied by wife Pat, will arrive in Peking Feb. 21 and leave from Shanghai Feb. 28. It will be the President's longest visit to another country.

Ziegler indicated live TV coverage will be limited to Peking. The ground station, being installed at the Peking airport, will be unable to pick up other communications from Hangchow and Shanghai.

While in China, Ziegler said, Nixon may visit the Great Wall, the Ming Tombs and the Forbidden City, all in or near Peking; an industrial exhibition in Shanghai and a scenic lake dotted with parkland islands near Hangchow.

American newsmen making the trip will be guests at all official banquets given the Chinese for the President and Mrs. Nixon, the press secretary reported.

The press corps, he said, also will travel while in China aboard Chinese aircraft made in Russia.

Asked if the Nixons would venture aboard similar planes, he said, "We don't have details to provide you now."

Groppi Contempt Conviction Voided By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The contempt conviction of the Rev. James Groppi by the Wisconsin legislature in 1969 was reversed 7 to 0 today by the Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said the punishment, without hearing the militant priest, violated constitutional procedures. The fact that Groppi was held in contempt two days after his allegedly contemptuous conduct was a major factor in the court's ruling.

Groppi was held in contempt by the Wisconsin Assembly Oct. 1, 1969, for his part in a welfare demonstration that blocked the legislature for about 12 hours two days earlier. At the time the resolution was passed Groppi was in the Dane County jail on disorderly conduct charges arising from the same incident.

The contempt resolution was adopted without giving the priest an opportunity to present a defense.

State Hospital Security Tighter

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Tighter security arrangements were being imposed on one ward at Lima State Hospital today but Dr. T. J. Reshetly, hospital superintendent, termed it "interference."

Under authority of Dr. Kenneth Gaver, director-designate of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown ordered an Ohio Highway Patrol officer on 24-hour duty in Ward 10.

That is the ward where male patients, who are to be witnesses in trials of former employees accused of mistreating inmates, are currently sequestered. Gaver extended the latitude of the attorney general in making strict security arrangements for the ward.

With his hands thrust deep in his pocket and his head down, Kurashvily made no reply to the shouted questions from a crowd of newsmen as he moved toward the plane. The airliner departed at 2:37 a.m.

After he slashed himself on Sunday, Kurashvily was taken to Jamaica Hospital in Queens by Port Authority police. He reportedly told them he did not want asylum but had slashed himself "because I did not like myself at the time."

Kurashvily and another Russian student had left Berkeley, Calif., where they were attending the University of California, after a food store manager accused them of shoplifting. The charges were later dropped, but they said they were humiliated.

Stock List Goes Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices slid downward in the stock market today, in active trading. Declines were registered in a broad range of issues, especially the blue chips.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks dropped 6.24 to 904.58 at noon.

Advances topped declines on the Big Board, about 4 to 1.

Today's early downturn was a continuation of the direction the market took in the late hours Wednesday, when profit taking wiped out substantial gains in many issues, particularly the blue chips.

To most traders the minus signs were less than surprising, as many of them had been anticipating a "correction" to slow down the more or less steady advances of recent weeks.

Rubber issues, electronics, and airlines were lower. Some of the oils, utilities, and steels were down. Glamour issues were mixed, as were rails.

The Associated Press average of 60 corporate issues was down 2.2 to 331.0 at noon. Industrials sagged 3.4 to 484, rails were off 1.4 to 190.3, and utilities eased down .7 to 141.9.

Sen. Robin Turner To Seek Re-Election

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Robin Turner, R-14 Marion, announced Wednesday he will seek re-election in the new 26th District. His opponent in the Republican primary is expected to be Sen. Paul Gillmor, R-12 Tiffin.

Turner and Gillmor were thrown into the same district by reapportionment of legislative boundaries. Gillmor has said he will make a formal announcement of candidacy within two weeks.

Job Bureau Reorganization Takes Effect; 8 New Districts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The long-planned reorganization of the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services, establishing eight new districts, becomes effective Jan. 24, the bureau announced today.

Bureau Administrator William Barnes said the plan, which has won federal approval, calls for creation of the new district, each to be supervised by a district manager and field staff.

He said it would enable the bureau to "achieve the goal of establishing more uniform and a higher quality of service through tighter administrative controls."

Under the plan, local office managers will be responsible to the district managers, and the district managers to the central office in Columbus.

Currently, more than 100 local office managers report directly to the central office to receive instructions and provide information.

Garnes said this was a cumbersome organization which provide little change for efficient operation. District organization, he said, will make the bureau more responsive and more accountable.

The district lineup will be: District 1—All OBES offices in Hamilton, (Cincinnati) Clermont, Brown, Adams, Highland, Clinton, Warren and Butler Counties.

District 2 — Montgomery (Dayton), Preble, Greene, Clark, Miami, Darke, Mercer, Auglaize, Shelby, Logan and Champaign Counties.

District 3—Lucas (Toledo), Allen (Lima), Williams, Fulton, Ottawa, Defiance, Henry, Wood, Sandusky, Paulding, Putnam, Hancock, Seneca, Van Wert and Hardin Counties.

District 4—Lorain (Lorain-Elvira), Erie, Huron, Wyandot, Crawford, Richland, Ashland, Marion, Morrow and Knox Counties.

District 6 — Stark (Canton), Holmes, Tuscarawas, Carroll, Coshocton, Harrison, Jefferson, Muskingum, Guernsey, Belmont, Perry, Morzan, Noble, Washington, Monroe and Wayne Counties.

District 7—Mahoning (Youngstown), Summit (Akron), Ash-tabula, Trumbull, Columbiana and Portage Counties.

College Agent To Visit TVHS

An admission counselor from Baldwin-Wallace College will visit Teays Valley High School Jan. 26 to meet with guidance counselors and to speak with students interested in attending college.

The counselor, Brenda Kirk, will visit the school beginning 1:30 on that date and offer information regarding entrance requirements and admission procedures at Baldwin-Wallace. She will discuss the college's academic programs, physical plant and activities available for Baldwin-Wallace students.

Baldwin-Wallace College is located in Berea, ten miles southwest of Cleveland. A liberal arts institution with 29 departments, the co-educational, residential college has an enrollment of 2,325 students and a student-professor ratio of 16:1.

Juvenile Court Hearings Held

The month-old son of a Circleville woman was placed in the custody of the Pickaway County Children's Welfare Board when the mother was ruled unable to provide proper care.

A 16-year-old boy appeared in juvenile court on a charge of excessive absence from school and truancy. He was ordered to spend three weekends in detention and his probation, set in 1970 for a similar offense, was continued until 1975.

David E. Jones, 17, Lockbourne Road, Columbus, was arrested here for operating an unsafe vehicle and his case transferred to Franklin County juvenile authorities for final determination. The youth's auto was found to have a defective exhaust system and bald tires and lacked windshield wiper blades and a license plate light.

Judge Frederick M. Warren said Tuesday he approved the merger because the law school was a bargain, not a liability, to the college.

Officer Finds Slain Girl His Niece

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Lt. Raymond Pecheone was one of the first policemen to arrive at a murder scene where a 19-year-old girl had been tied to a tree and stabbed repeatedly.

The victim, Joanne Pecheone, was his niece. Joanne had been bound to a tree in a lonely wooded area with shoelaces and pieces of rawhide. Half of her clothes had been torn off. The coroner says she may have been raped. Bloodhounds were used Wednesday to search for clues in the hilly area where Joanne was killed.

The daughter of a Proctor High School driver-education teacher, her body was found less than an hour after her death, Dr. Charles Brady, the coroner, estimated.

Two young snowmobilers found Joanne's body.

Her uncle was led away from the scene by his colleagues and replaced on the case.

Brady said Joanne had been killed about 3 p.m. Her textbooks were found strewn about the site where the body was discovered.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voluntary enlistments fell below the armed services objectives during the last half of 1971, a time when the draft was taking very few men.

This could spell trouble for Nixon administration hopes of ending the draft and changing to an all-volunteer force by mid-1973.

The coming months should indicate whether about $3 billion in new military pay boosts will attract enough additional volunteers. These boosts became effective too late to have any significant impact on recruitment totals in 1971.

Pentagon figures show that the services recruited 195,300 new men in the July-December period, about 17,000 fewer than their objective.

Dear Abby: We Must Honor Neighbor's Beliefs

DEAR ABBY: How long are you going to pollute the world with your ignorance?

Someone wrote and told you that in his native country (India) it was alright under certain conditions to make another man's wife pregnant. And you replied, "Thank you for illustrating a point which we in the Western World are apt to forget. We represent a very small part of the world, and what we consider 'immoral' or 'unethical' is not necessarily immoral or unethical in other countries and for other cultures."

Well, he is wrong and so are you! Just because they do it in other countries doesn't make it right.

You ignorant woman. Have you not read the Ten Commandments? Have you not read in the New Testament that Christians are to go all over the world and teach the gospel? That includes India, too.

It is polluters like you who delude ignorant people into believing that immoral acts are all right. It's time Christians everywhere wrote to you and demanded that you speak with truth.

DISGUSTED WITH YOU

DEAR DISGUSTED: The love your neighbor as yourself. And to love one's neighbors, we must respect his belief, though be different from our own. To try to impose our values on others is not only a denial of their rights, but also a form of arrogance, which in itself is irreligious. An ancient Hebrew prayer put it very well: "From the cowardice that shrinks from new truth, From the laziness that is content with half-truths, From the arrogance that thinks it knows all truth, Oh, God of Truth, deliver us."

Cincy Woman Wins Reversal Of Conviction For Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A new trial was ordered Wednesday by the Ohio Supreme Court for a Cincinnati woman sentenced to death for murder, ruling that the trial judge failed to properly instruct the jury on tests for insanity.

Mrs. Brenda Joyce Anders, 29, was convicted in 1969 of first-degree murder in the shooting death of Mrs. Anna Francis Walls, 31, on the front lawn of Mrs. Walls' home in front of her nine children.

Mrs. Anders pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity, claiming Mrs. Walls husband, Walter Walls, with whom Mrs. Anders had been living, had "hypnotized" her.

A psychiatrist also testified that Mrs. Anders was under Walls' influence and could not have stopped herself from committing the act.

The Supreme Court overturned the Hamilton County Common Pleas Court verdict, which was upheld by the First District of Appeals.

The high court said that Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge Lyle Castle

Cold Wave Hits U.S. Midsection

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An Arctic cold wave rolled into the nation's heartland today, preceded by a band of snow stretching from the central Rockies to the Midwest.

Cold-wave warnings were issued for an eight-state region from Colorado and Wyoming to the middle Mississippi Valley. Heavy-snow warnings also were out in mountain areas.

Storm-force winds swept Lake Superior and Lake Michigan, while small gales blew across the lower Great Lakes.

Moderate temperatures favored the eastern third of the nation, but triggered scattered showers and thunderstorms in the Southeast.

Clear skies predominated from Southern California to the lower Mississippi Valley and the Ohio Valley.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 27 below zero in Cut Bank, Mont., to 76 at Key West and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Lunar Scientists Argue Over Volcanic Questions

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo flights have resolved many of the moon's secrets, but lunar scientists still argue over many key questions: How was it created? Do volcanoes exist there?

Leading moon experts debated the questions openly Tuesday at the third annual Lunar Science Conference being held here. More than 700 scientists are attending from 18 nations.

The sharpest exchange came on the volcano issue.

"The hope of finding volcanoes on the moon at the present time is wasted motion. The moon is a dead body," declared Dr. Thomas Gold of Cornell University.

"I think it's dangerous to take such a dangerous view at this time. Words like no or never have ways of putting the speaker's foot in his mouth later on," retorted Dr. Gary Latham of Colombia University.

Latham triggered the debate when he reported there is "tantalizing" evidence of a recent volcanic eruption on the moon.

He said seismometers emplaced by Apollo astronauts are recording 600 to 800 minor moonquakes a year.

"It was preceded by swarms (small seismic shudders), and then activity stopped abruptly," Latham explained. "There's only one kind of event that behaves this way on earth and that's a volcano."

5 Youths Die In Auto Crash Near Greenville

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Five Greenville youths were killed late Wednesday as their car and a tractor-trailer rig collided at the intersection of U.S. 127 and Ohio 47, six miles north of Greenville.

The Highway Patrol said both the car and the cab of the truck were demolished. The impact knocked the truck's cab off the road and into a nearby field, but the truck driver, Max Larue, 51, of Bradford, received only minor injuries.

The dead were identified as Russell Edwards, 20, driver of the car, Harry Delk Jr., 17; Sharon Lee, 17; David Gibbons, 18, and Janne White, 17, all passengers in the car. All lived in Greenville.

Lunar Scientists Argue Over Volcanic Questions

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo flights have resolved many of the moon's secrets, but lunar scientists still argue over many key questions: How was it created? Do volcanoes exist there?

Leading moon experts debated the questions openly Tuesday at the third annual Lunar Science Conference being held here. More than 700 scientists are attending from 18 nations.

The sharpest exchange came on the volcano issue.

"The hope of finding volcanoes on the moon at the present time is wasted motion. The moon is a dead body," declared Dr. Thomas Gold of Cornell University.

"I think it's dangerous to take such a dangerous view at this time. Words like no or never have ways of putting the speaker's foot in his mouth later on," retorted Dr. Gary Latham of Columbia University.

Latham triggered the debate when he reported there is " tantalizing" evidence of a recent volcanic eruption on the moon. He said seismometers emplaced by Apollo astronauts are recording 600 to 800 minor moonquakes a year.

"It was preceded by swarms (small seismic shudders), and then activity stopped abruptly," Latham explained. "There's only one kind of event that behaves this way on earth and that's a volcano."

But Gold jumped in to defend his long-held theory of a dead moon.

"There is not the slightest hot region on the moon at this time," he said. "It's childish to think otherwise."

Neither man gave ground. Each said additional study of Apollo data and that to be gathered by Apollo 16 and 17 later this year would prove his point.

Brandt Donates Nobel Prize To Charity

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt has donated the $90,000 in prize money he received with his 1971 Nobel Peace award to charitable organizations, a spokesman for his office reported today.

The chancellor received the Peace Prize in Oslo Dec. 10 for promoting the relaxation of East-West tensions in Europe.

5 Youths Die In Auto Crash Near Greenville

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Five Greenville youths were killed late Wednesday as their car and a tractor-trailer rig collided at the intersection of U.S. 127 and Ohio 47, six miles north of Greenville.

The Highway Patrol said both the car and the cab of the truck were demolished. The impact knocked the truck's cab off the road and into a nearby field, but the truck driver, Max Larue, 51, of Bradford, received only minor injuries.

The dead were identified as Russell Edwards, 20, driver of the car, Harry Delk Jr., 17; Sharon Lee, 17; David Gibbons, 18, and Janne White, 17, all passengers in the car. All lived in Greenville.

New School Issue

These court decisions in three major states within the last six months knocked out the property tax as a primary basis for public school financing. The issue ought to be adjudicated to a final decision as rapidly as possible.

The alternative to a speedy conclusion to this latest upheaval in public education could be a major financing crisis.

Court decisions in California, Michigan and Texas held that relying on property taxes to finance public education made some districts less equal than others. That, all three decisions have said, is unconstitutional.

The problem is what to do now. It is not limited to the states where the courts have rendered their decisions. Similar suits are on file in other states. It is an issue which could arise nationally in epidemic proportions.

Only Hawaii of all the states finances its public schools entirely through state taxes. Thus the stage has been set for a massive restructuring of education financing, unless the current trend of decisions should be overturned by the Supreme Court.

There is a nagging suspicion that the far-reaching court decisions thus far rendered may not be an end. If it is unconstitutional for different districts within a state to receive different allocations, what of the difference between states? It is a logic which could lead to total federal financing and control of the public schools.

Legendary Fleet

The mothball fleet gradually has come out of its cocoon, but to be dismantled not reborn.

For years following World War II the United States was determined not to be caught short again in naval capacity by an aggressor. As the aged and battle-scarred veterans of that war no longer were needed, they were placed into retirement — but in such a manner that they could be reclaimed for service if an emergency arose.

Stripped of much of their vitals, the ships — 2,277 of them in eight fleets on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts — were covered with preservative wrappings and put in out-of-the-way coves and docks.

For a quarter century some of them waited for a call which never came.

Now there are only 700 in the mothball fleet, and their number continues to dwindle. Some were contributed to the merchant fleets of emerging countries. Many have gone to the scrap pile.

The mothball fleet is becoming a legend.

Curse Of Apathy

Apathy these days is the chief enemy of freedom. The values of our way of life are challenged by complacency and apathy as well as by outside forces.

We can scourge ourselves with the knowledge of our indifference but it is neither a diagnosis nor a cure for the ailment. The world has become a busier and more complex place than it has ever been before.

"Leaving it to the government" has become too tempting to resist for many people.

Governments foster this attitude by adopting the character of everybody's rich uncle. The apathy goes deeper than indifference to the intricate workings of government on the national level.

The trouble may be that as a nation we are too well housed and too well fed to overcome the inertia of plenty.

The apathy that afflicts us will not vanish by exhortation, nor by more government spoon-feeding, but by injecting real challenge into every department of living. A system which dispenses gifts with the impartiality of a computer is not conducive to a lively individual interest in its affairs.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — These are the days when we are caught between the doldrums and our daydreams.

If man were a sensible creature he would hibernate, as do the jumping mouse, badger, bat, woodchuck, chipmunk, bear, and some ground squirrels. What a commonsense solution to the problems that this time of winter brings—frigid weather and unpaid bills—by snoozing the days away in a warm cave or fur-lined motel.

But, no. Man must ever be up and doing.

The snow falls on him, the wind blows him blue, the boss upbraids him, the children deride him, his wife snaps at him—and his spirit is dolorous. He would drown in his doldrums except for his daydreams.

It is only our daydreams now that keep us at all sane. A fellow is safe if he can close his eyes and for a moment imagine what fun it would be to—

Be a beach boy on the island of Bali.

Reform a werewolf in Transylvania and teach it to drink cola—not blood—through a straw.

Milk a sea cow.

Get an octopus to do all those jobs that a guy with only two hands can't get done.

Saddle a sea horse.

Shiver your timbers. (Just how does a man go about shivering his timbers anyway?)

Bark up the right tree.

Get the garter concession in a Turkish harem.

Tack up a sign on the North Pole saying, "I was here, Killroy. Was you?"

Mutter the unutterable.

Put a mare's nest on the desk of every office bureaucrat in America who prides himself on how neat a desk he keeps.

Send a telegram to Gen. Custer warning him that the Indians think he needs a haircut.

Make money grow on trees—just to please housewives whose husbands tell them it doesn't.

Petition the government to print its paper money in red ink so people would stop benighted instead of green. Then fore they spent it.

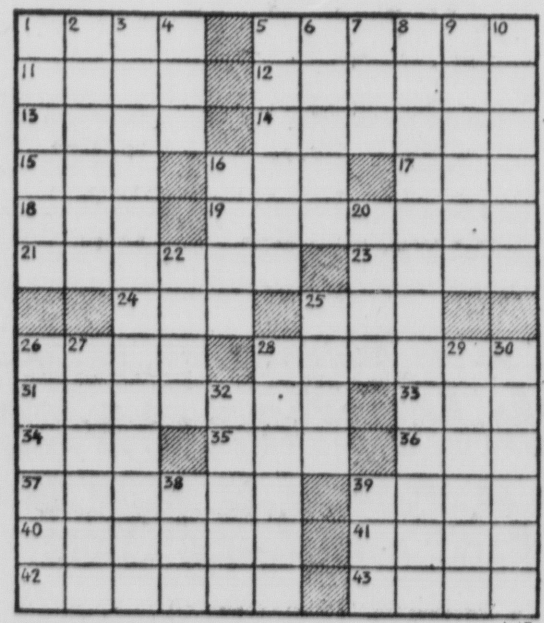

Buy the Statue of Liberty a bright new dress to wear when spring comes.

Yes, since we can't hibernate in inclement times, we need our daydreams, now and forever. Take away their daydreams and all men would go mad.

GENERAL TENDENCIES:

This is apt to be a day when most people are ready for a good argument to prove their points whatever they may be. Yet for the wise man or woman, anything of this nature will be studiously avoided since unnecessary estrangements can occur if one yields to this present atmosphere of contention, scrapping.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take care you do not force issues with bigwigs where your talents and needs are concerned or you get little success with them. Handle those credit matters well. Improve your reputation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have to do more study where new ideas are concerned before putting them in operation, otherwise they peter out unsuccessfully. Avoid that overly glamorous person. Stay on the safe side of life.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make certain you pay those bills instead of trying some trick that could easily lose you the support of higher-ups. Don't take any anger out on mate if you feel that life is not treating you just right. Think.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Lambasting an associate who is not tending to business does no good, but kind prodding helps greatly. Make sure you get own work done without complaint. Evening brings far better understanding.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy at that work ahead of you instead of lagging or you could lose what is actually a good job. Stop running around so much and take better care of your health. Have a more optimistic outlook on life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out for a good time but don't bother others who are too busy to accompany you. Don't spend too much. Perfecting some talent is good. Balance work and fun intelligently.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use diplomacy at home so you do not disturb the harmony now existing there. Let your role be that of peacemaker; silence is the best tool now. Did you forget to pay that important bill? Do it today.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

For the past five years I have had a flu injection each year. Twice I developed the flu in spite of the shots. Is there any advantage in continuing to take these injections each year?

Mrs. R. T., Maine
Dear Mrs. T.: There is some basic medical confusion in your letter.

Vaccination against influenza is of tremendous value in the elderly, the infirm and in those with chronic illnesses.

Unfortunately, there are a great many types of viruses responsible for the flu. No single vaccination is effective against all these.

You were understandably disappointed to have developed the flu despite these injections, but it must be remembered that the common cold and the gripe are often mistakenly called an attack of influenza. Your infection need not necessarily have been the flu.

The United States Public Health Service has a special committee that advises it about the need for and the value of flu shots each year. Their decisions are based on an exact computerized study of the possibility of an epidemic and the type of influenza virus that will threaten a large segment of the population.

The Public Health Service advises that this year's influenza vaccine should be given to all people whose basic resistance is low, and who might, without the shot, be liable to complications if influenza did occur.

Many new drugs with antiviral activity are being considered for influenza epidemics. These drugs are not yet cleared for distribution.

I break out into hives whenever I put my hands in cold water or when I touch frozen foods.

I just can't believe this is an allergy, as I have been told.

Miss B. E., Conn.
Dear Miss E.: My first reaction is that you most definitely give evidence of an allergy to cold.

It is not unusual to have a physical allergy and react as you do when exposed to cold, to cold foods or even after drinking iced water.

By trial and error, you can easily confirm this with the aid of your doctor. There are special physical allergy tests that can prove or disprove your increased sensitivity to cold.

The number of broken hips that occur each year reflects the hidden hazards of many homes.

American Politics

By JEFFERY HART

In announcing his candidacy for the Presidency, Senator Edmund Muskie promised us a "new beginning" in American politics. However that may be, he certainly did not provide any new beginnings so far as political rhetoric is concerned.

A couple of years ago I signed on for a while as a speech writer for one of the major national political figures, and was asked to produce a speech on the situation of the American Negro. I turned out 3,000 or 4,000 words pointing out that by all available indices — jobs, income, housing, education — the Negro had come far during the last decade, but that, unfortunately, many problems remained and that many of these, again unfortunately, were intractable. My speech was a perfectly truthful description of reality.

However, it could not be delivered. I was given to understand that a political speech had to be generously laced with "hope" and had to have "lift," especially toward the close. Even when hope of the sort proffered is rationally unjustified, even when it is not much believed in by the candidate himself, he has to offer it and present himself as embodying it.

The theory implicit here is that even though the voter, at some level of his consciousness, may himself be skeptical — may sense in his own experience the intractability of much of life — he nevertheless distrusts the politician who fails to strike the accustomed, indeed traditional, hopeful notes.

And here was Muskie, almost agonizingly predictable in his rhetoric: "There is not a single problem we do not have the resources to solve if we bury our fears and quiet our doubts and renew our search for the common good."

Now everybody, Muskie included, knows that that statement is flatly untrue. Anyway, Muskie promised to allay hunger, cure pollution, reform taxes, provide medical care, end poverty, take care of the farmers, and bring about peace in our time. If Muskie is paying anybody to produce that kind of boiler plate, he ought to reassess his speech writers. This speech, however, had all the earmarks of having been crafted by the candidate himself.

Maybe the conventional view is correct, and the voters become uneasy when the politicians aren't film-flamming them with the usual rhetoric of rapid hope. I myself suspect that the conventional view is wrong. In 1968, I think, the appeal of the McCarthy candidacy — and Eugene McCarthy was attractive even to many who ultimately backed other candidates — came not so much from his position on the issues, for this was elusive, as from the tone of his speeches and remarks. McCarthy held out no conventional promised-land visions of the future; his perorations did not sound as if they had been inspired by Virgil's Fourth Eclogue. His power lay in understatement. His characteristic reply began with the phrase, "Oh, I don't know . . ." He seemed to be leveling with you.

Richard Nixon seemed to have learned a lesson from McCarthy. His inauspicious address was modest, and offered us no new frontiers or great societies. Nixon even noted that much of our perplexity had stemmed from unrealistic promises and hopes.

More recently, however, there has been a vast inflation of Administration rhetoric. Wars, we have been told, are very likely a thing of the past. The recent modest beginnings in the international economic arena were the greatest economic agreements in history — and so on. The Administration can point to some real accomplishments. Ed Muskie seems decent enough. But both, it now appears, are going to choke us with clouds of bogus idealism.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Last October it was learned from Peter Hilton, a business consultant here, that 2.5 million acres of Florida real estate was to be sold for $1.625 billion. Only one family, not to be named, was involved, he said. The announcement was received with skepticism by many people, some of them thoroughly informed on real estate matters. It was too good to be true, they said. It was too much to believe one family owned so much.

The properties were said to involve 3,900 square miles, which is more land than in Yellowstone National Park, situated in 25 different counties.

And the details, as Hilton revealed them, made belief a test of faith.

"The property has vast and varied development possibilities, with existing mineral deposits, forests, water, homesites, recreational facilities, urban and rural tracts," he said in communications with large corporations.

There were more than 500 miles of water frontage on lakes, rivers, canals and the continental coast, he said, adding that 95 per cent of the land was high, dry and fenced, and that 300 miles of highways skirted or traversed it.

And he added, almost incredibly, the properties were "almost totally unexploited to date." Nevertheless, he said, they were "generating several million dollars income annually . . ."

The ensuing weeks have been frustrating for Hilton. Corporations have expressed interest in the property, as might be expected, but not as one parcel. The seller, Hilton says, insists on just one sale, "for absolutely obscure reasons."

"So big is the property that no one company can buy it entirely," he says. "No one corporate entity can make that kind of commitment. Those that are interested in the minerals aren't interested in the forests."

Since the seller won't permit multiple sales, the alternative is to find multiple buyers.

"I think a consortium is unavoidable unless the seller relents and says it can be broken up," he says.

Why has it been so difficult to determine the name of the sellers? Hilton, who stands to make a huge commission if he completes the sale, says that his lips are sealed.

The parcels, he said, are held in various names by about 250 legatees, even though the transaction apparently will be handled by the senior legatee, who is said to own 60 per cent of the property.

The large number of names involved, Hilton explains, obscures the relationship. He insists, however, that it is indeed one family and that it has been accumulating the estate since 1892.

What are the prospects for completing the transaction? "It won't happen soon," Hilton replied.

Bad Merchandise Consumers Helped

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Under New Jersey law, consumers no longer will have to continue to meet installment payments on defective merchandise.

The new law eliminates the so-called "holder-in-due-course" doctrine. Under the doctrine a bank or finance company previously could demand payment for goods or services regardless of whether the seller had fulfilled the details of the original agreement.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Desi Arnaz is adding another title to his list of occupation credits which already include singer, musician, bandleader, actor, producer.

Beginning Feb. 7, Arnaz will teach studio production and acting to upperclassmen and graduate students at San Diego State College.

He will be paid $10,000 and will hold "a rank comparable to full professor," a college spokesman said Tuesday.

Land Being Offered To Ceylonese Poor

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike's son Anura has offered to give up his lands if that would help his country's landless peasants.

Describing himself as "a very rich landlord," the 21-year-old Anura made the offer Tuesday at a political rally as Ceylon's government prepared land reforms that would include a ceiling on individual holdings.

Mrs. Bandaranaike also has expressed willingness to give up her family's substantial holdings.

Sewage Spill Blamed On Worker Error

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Cleveland's new utilities director, Raymond Kudukis, says the sewage plant breakdown that sent millions of gallons of raw sewage spilling into Lake Erie last summer was caused by a worker who forgot to close a valve.

Kudukis said Tuesday his personal investigation of the breakdown showed that an employee at the treatment plant opened the valve to a tank then forgot to close it.

Yet for the wise man or woman, anything of this nature will be studiously avoided since unnecessary estrangements can occur if one yields to this present atmosphere of contention, scrapping.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take care you do not force issues with bigwigs where your talents and needs are concerned or you get little success with them. Handle those credit matters well. Improve your reputation.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have to do more study where new ideas are concerned before putting them in operation, otherwise they peter out unsuccessfully. Avoid that overly glamorous person. Stay on the safe side of life.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Make certain you pay those bills instead of trying some trick that could easily lose you the support of higher-ups. Don't take any anger out on mate if you feel that life is not treating you just right. Think.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Lambasting an associate who is not tending to business does no good, but kind prodding helps greatly. Make sure you get own work done without complaint. Evening brings far better understanding.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy at that work ahead of you instead of lagging or you could lose what is actually a good job. Stop running around so much and take better care of your health. Have a more optimistic outlook on life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get out for a good time but don't bother others who are too busy to accompany you. Don't spend too much. Perfecting some talent is good. Balance work and fun intelligently.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Use diplomacy at home so you do not disturb the harmony now existing there. Let your role be that of peacemaker; silence is the best tool now. Did you forget to pay that important bill? Do it today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although you are thinking very clearly, you are apt to be critical of others, so think twice before you say anything. Show you are considerate. A day when a kind word does wonders.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may have financial worries, but this should not throw you for a loop, so keep calm and plan how to get yourself out of the morass, ethically. Do not overspend on anything, no matter how small the item. Learn to be economical.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are tempted to argue with others and this could lead to trouble, so take it easy. See what you can do to improve your appearance. Changing your attitude can work wonders at this time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have worries that could keep you from getting all those important tasks done, so do something constructive about them and all is fine. Try to help those less fortunate than you, too. Show generosity.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want information from friends but they are too busy right now, so wait for a better time. Use your own good judgment and handle personal affairs well. Don't waste time fretting foolishly.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who has much ability where practical matters are concerned, but there appears to be a lack of perseverance, so it behooves you as parents or guardians early in life to teach to complete whatever has once been started. Then the chart becomes a most successful one. The sense of humor here is terrific and for this reason your youngster can be quite a boon to society, bring joy to many who are depressed.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Now everybody, Muskie included, knows that that statement is flatly untrue. Anyway, Muskie promised to alleviate hunger, cure pollution, reform taxes, provide medical care, and poverty, take care of the farmers, and bring about peace in our time. If Muskie is paying anybody to produce that kind of boiler plate, he ought to reassess his speech writers. This speech, however, had all the earmarks of having been crafted by the candidate himself.

Maybe the conventional view is correct, and the voters become uneasy when the politicians aren't flim-flamming them with the usual rhetoric of rapid hope. I myself suspect that the conventional view is wrong. In 1968, I think, the appeal of the McCarthy candidacy — and Eugene McCarthy was attractive even to many who ultimately backed other candidates — came not so much from his position on the issues, for this was elusive, as from the tone of his speeches and remarks. McCarthy held out no conventional promised-land visions of the future; his perorations did not sound as if they had been inspired by Virgil's Fourth Eclogue. His power lay in understatement. His characteristic reply began with the phrase, "Oh, I don't know . . ." He seemed to be leveling with you.

Richard Nixon seemed to have learned a lesson from McCarthy. His inaugural address was modest, and offered us no new frontiers or great societies. Nixon even noted that much of our perplexity had stemmed from unrealistic promises and hopes.

More recently, however, there has been a vast inflation of Administration rhetoric. Wars, we have been told, are very likely a thing of the past. The recent modest beginnings in the international economic arena were the greatest economic agreements in history — and so on. The Administration can point to some real accomplishments. Ed Muskie seems decent enough. But both, it now appears, are going to choke us with clouds of bogus idealism.

A couple of years ago I signed on for a while as a speech writer for one of the major national political figures, and was asked to produce a speech on the situation of the American Negro. I turned out 3,000 or 4,000 words pointing out that by all available indices — jobs, income, housing, education — the Negro had come far during the last decade, but that, unfortunately, many problems remained and that many of these, again unfortunately, were intractable. My speech was a perfectly truthful description of reality.

However, it could not be delivered. I was given to understand that a political speech had to be generously laced with "hope" and had to have "lift," especially toward the close. Even when hope of the sort proffered is rationally unjustified, even when it is not much believed in by the candidate himself, he has to offer it and present himself as embodying it.

The theory implicit here is that even though the voter, at some level of his consciousness, may himself be skeptical — may sense in his own experience the intractability of much of life — he nevertheless distrusts the politician who fails to strike the accustomed, indeed traditional, hopeful notes.

And here was Muskie, almost agonizingly predictable in his rhetoric: "There is not a single problem we do not have the resources to solve if we bury our fears and quiet our doubts and renew our search for the common good."

American Politics

By JEFFERY HART

In announcing his candidacy for the Presidency, Senator Edmund Muskie promised us a "new beginning" in American politics. However that may be, he certainly did not provide any new beginnings so far as political rhetoric is concerned.

A couple of years ago I signed on for a while as a speech writer for one of the major national political figures, and was asked to produce a speech on the situation of the American Negro. I turned out 3,000 or 4,000 words pointing out that by all available indices — jobs, income, housing, education — the Negro had come far during the last decade, but that, unfortunately, many problems remained and that many of these, again unfortunately, were intractable. My speech was a perfectly truthful description of reality.

The theory implicit here is that even though the voter, at some level of his consciousness, may himself be skeptical — may sense in his own experience the intractability of much of life — he nevertheless distrusts the politician who fails to strike the accustomed, indeed traditional, hopeful notes.

And here was Muskie, almost agonizingly predictable in his rhetoric: "There is not a single problem we do not have the resources to solve if we bury our fears and quiet our doubts and renew our search for the common good."

The Business World

AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Last October it was learned from Peter Hilton, a business consultant here, that 2.5 million acres of Florida real estate was to be sold for $1.625 billion. Only one family, not to be named, was involved, he said.

The announcement was received with skepticism by many people, some of them thoroughly informed on real estate matters. It was too big to be true, they said. It was too much to believe one family owned so much.

The properties were said to involve 3,900 square miles, which is more land than in Yellowstone National Park, situated in 25 different counties.

And the details, as Hilton revealed them, made belief a test of faith.

"The property has vast and varied development possibilities, with existing mineral deposits, forests, water, homesites, recreational facilities, urban and rural tracts," he said in communications with large corporations.

There were more than 500 miles of water frontage on lakes, rivers, canals and the continental coast, he said, adding that 95 per cent of the land was high, dry and fenced, and that 300 miles of highways skirted or traversed it.

And he added, almost incredibly, the properties were "almost totally unexploited to date." Nevertheless, he said, they were "generating several million dollars income annually . . ."

The ensuing weeks have been frustrating for Hilton. Corporations have expressed interest in the property, as might be expected, but not as one parcel. The seller, Hilton says, insists on just one sale, "for absolutely obscure reasons."

"So big is the property that no one company can buy it entirely," he says. "No one corporate entity can make that kind of commitment. Those that are interested in the minerals aren't interested in the forests."

Since the seller won't permit multiple sales, the alternative is to find multiple buyers.

"I think a consortium is unavoidable unless the seller relents and says it can be broken up," he says.

Why has it been so difficult to determine the name of the sellers? Hilton, who stands to make a huge commission if he completes the sale, says that his lips are sealed.

The parcels, he said, are held in various names by about 250 legatees, even though the transaction apparently will be handled by the senior legatee, who is said to own 60 per cent of the property.

The large number of names involved, Hilton explains, obscures the relationship. He insists, however, that it is indeed one family and that it has been accumulating the estate since 1892.

What are the prospects for completing the transaction? "It won't happen soon," Hilton replied.

Bad Merchandise Consumers Helped

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Under New Jersey law, consumers no longer will have to continue to meet installment payments on defective merchandise.

The new law eliminates the so-called "holder-in-due-course" doctrine. Under the doctrine a bank or finance company previously could demand payment for goods or services regardless of whether the seller had fulfilled the details of the original agreement.

Desi Arnaz Becomes College Professor

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Desi Arnaz is adding another title to his list of occupation credits which already include singer, musician, bandleader, actor, producer.

Beginning Feb. 7, Arnaz will teach studio production and acting to upperclassmen and graduate students at San Diego State College.

He will be paid $10,000 and will hold "a rank comparable to full professor," a college spokesman said Tuesday.

Land Being Offered To Ceylonese Poor

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike's son Anura has offered to give up his lands if that would help his country's landless peasants.

Describing himself as "a very rich landlord," the 21-year-old Anura made the offer Tuesday at a political rally as Ceylon's government prepared land reforms that would include a ceiling on individual holdings.

Mrs. Bandaranaike also has expressed willingness to give up her family's substantial holdings.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — These are the days when we are caught between the doldrums and our daydreams.

If man were a sensible creature he would hibernate, as do the jumping mouse, badger, bat, woodchuck, chipmunk, bear, and some ground squirrels. What a commonsense solution to the problems that this time of winter brings—frigid weather and unpaid bills—by snoozing the days away in a warm cave or fur-lined motel.

But, no. Man must ever be up and doing.

The snow falls on him, the wind blows him blue, the boss upbraids him, the children deride him, his wife snaps at him—and his spirit is dolorous. He would drown in his doldrums except for his daydreams.

It is only our daydreams now that keep us at all sane. A fellow is safe if he can close his eyes and for a moment imagine what fun it would be to—

Be a beach boy on the island of Bali.

Reform a werewolf in Transylvania and teach it to drink cola—not blood—through a straw.

Milk a sea cow.

Get an octopus to do all those jobs that a guy with only two hands can't do for him.

Saddle a sea horse.

Shiver your timbers. (Just how does a man go about shivering his timbers anyway?)

Bark up the right tree.

Garbage Used For Paper

NEW YORK (AP)—Development of a new type of printing paper utilizing "urban fibers," which have "been successfully recycled from municipal garbage, was reported Wednesday by a St. Regis Paper Co. executive.

Bernard Recknagel, executive vice president-marketing said tests conducted at its Defert, N.Y., plant offered a potential source of fiber for the paper industry while conserving a valuable portion of the nation's forest resources.

He estimated that 40 million tons of paper are discarded each year.

Three off-set grades of paper that utilized 30 to 55 per cent fiber from unsegregated urban solid waste were manufactured in tests, Recknagel said.

The reclaimed fiber came from the Franklin, Ohio, "Hydrasposal Fibreclaim" demonstration project built and operated by the Black Clawson Co. of Middletown, Ohio under a grant from the Environmental Protection Agency.

Maoist Professor Fights To Keep Stanford Position

By EDITH M. LEDERER
Associated Press Writer
STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Prof. H. Bruce Franklin, a Maoist who advocates the overthrow of the American capitalist system, is fighting to remain on the faculty of Stanford University so he can express his revolutionary beliefs.

Stanford President Richard Lyman has recommended to the university's trustees that the 37-year-old associate professor of English be fired for allegedly inciting antiwar demonstrations on campus last February to protest the invasion of Laos.

After Lyman's announcement Sunday, Franklin said he had no hope the trustees would reverse the president's decision, adding that he would appeal the dismissal in court. The trustees are not expected to consider the matter until later this month.

Franklin claims his cause marks the first time an American university has tried to fire a tenured professor "on political grounds."

He said he has "a political, moral and even a legal responsibility" to see that Stanford students are not deprived of "the ability to hear my ideas and those of other revolutionaries."

"The heart of the issue," Franklin said, is that "they're not going to allow one professor at the university to say that the university should be run by poor working people."

A Stanford spokesman denies Franklin's contention about dismissal of a tenured teacher. He said Wisconsin State University regents last October dismissed tenured Asst. Prof. William L. Lafferty, whom the university said encouraged student demonstrations on the Whitewater campus in spring 1970.

A seven-member faculty advisory board recommended to Lyman Jan. 5 that Franklin be dismissed with pay up to Aug. 31. The board based its 5-2 recommendation on more than one

GOP Seeks '2nd Name'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state Republican Executive Committee was to meet today to name a second presidential choice of the Ohio delegation to the GOP national convention.

Published reports that their choice would be Martha Moore, Republican national committeewoman, were termed by a spokesman for state GOP Chairman John Andrews as "strictly speculative."

The purpose of naming Miss Moore, who is vice chairman of the Ohio Republican Party, apparently would be to get around a legal requirement without causing any friction among supporters of Ohio Sens. Robert Taft Jr. and William Saxbe.

Taft earlier this month withdrew his previously announced intention to run as a favorite son candidate after President Nixon indicated he would allow his name to be placed on the Ohio ballot and thus head the Ohio GOP delegate slate.

Garbage Used For Paper

NEW YORK (AP)—Development of a new type of printing paper utilizing "urban fibers," which have "been successfully recycled from municipal garbage," was reported Wednesday by a St. Regis Paper Co. executive.

Bernard Recknagel, executive vice president-marketing said tests conducted at its Defenit, N.Y., plant offered a potential source of fiber for the paper industry while conserving a valuable portion of the nation's forest resources.

He estimated that 40 million tons of paper are discarded each year. Three off-set grades of paper that utilized 30 to 55 per cent fiber from unsegregated urban solid waste were manufactured in tests, Recknagel said. The reclaimed fiber came from the Franklin, Ohio, "Hydrasposal Fibreclaim" demonstration project built and operated by the Black Clawson Co. of Middletown, Ohio under a grant from the Environmental Protection Agency.

Ohio Youth Faces Abduction Charges

MILESBURG, Pa. (AP)—A 17-year-old Euclid, Ohio, youth was to be returned to Ohio to face abduction charges in the alleged kidnapping of a 16-year-old Mayfield Heights girl he once dated from her school bus stop Monday.

The youth was arrested Tuesday after a high-speed chase on Interstate 80 sparked after a gas station attendant found a plea for help scrawled in lipstick on a restroom mirror.

admitted to Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus last Thursday and is expected to undergo surgery on Wednesday morning. She is in room 821.

MRS. JOHN E. JEFFRIES JR.

Miss Linda E. Riethmiller Bride Of John Jeffries Jr.

Miss Linda Elizabeth Riethmiller and Mr. John E. Jeffries Jr. were united in marriage at Trinity Lutheran Church 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 11th.

Pastor Carl G. Zehner officiated the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Riethmiller, 250 Meadow Drive, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Jeffries Sr., 1134 McGraw Road. The altar was decorated with evergreen and vases of red carnations, and the pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a V-neck white velvet gown with a fitted waistline. The long pointed sleeves and the deep front pleat of her skirt were edged in pearls. Her waist length veil of bridal illusion was attached to a white velvet and pearl headpiece. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Christy Dresbach served as maid of honor. She wore a dark green velvet gown with an empire bodice. Her headpiece was a dark green matching bow and she carried a bouquet of red variegated carnations.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bruce Bell, sister of the bride; Miss Judy Riethmiller, sister of the bride and Mrs. Rodger William Groves, sister of the groom. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor in deep red velvet gowns and carried bouquets of green variegated carnations.

Mr. Richard Jeffries served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Charles Wiggins, Mr. Kenneth Crawford and Mr. Joseph Bruce Bell.

Mrs. Riethmiller was attired in a pink double knit suit with black accessories and a corsage of light pink carnations. Mrs. Jeffries selected a coral suit with black accessories and a corsage of deep pink carnations. The reception in the home of the bride immediately followed the ceremony. The center table was covered with red satin with a scalloped white lace overlay held with clusters of holly. The top tier of the three tiered wedding cake was supported with pillars and white doves. It was decorated with poinsettias and topped with the traditional bride and groom. Red and green variegated carnations encircled the cake and the punch bowl. Completing the scene was an archway covered with live evergreen and trimmed in miniature lights.

Hostesses at the reception were Mrs. Chuck Twing, Miss Clara Carpenter, and Mrs. Andrew Kerr.

The bride chose for her going

LaSertoma Club Slates Session

Traffic Safety Panel To Meet Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Governor's Traffic Safety Committee meets at the Statehouse Friday morning with representatives of more than 150 organizations to discuss motorist, passenger and pedestrian safety.

The committee, formed by Gov. John Gilligan, has a primary goal of establishing a traffic safety council in every county.

Early American Religion Morning Circle Program

Mrs. Louise Anderson presented the program for the recent meeting of Morning Circle of Calvary United Methodist Church in the home of Mrs. Dale DeLong, 590 Edgewood Drive.

In keeping with the holiday season Mrs. DeLong read the poem "Christmas" which was sent to her by the Rev. Charles Ashley. Mrs. Earl Millions led the 10 members and one guest in prayer.

President, Mrs. DeLong, reminded members of the World Day of Prayer to be held March 3. It was noted that workers are needed for the Clothing Center on Jan. 26.

New program books were distributed and 1972 reading course books will be ordered in the near future.

Mrs. Anderson used as her topic, "John And Charles Wesley and Francis Asbury." John, the eldest son of Samuel Wesley was born in Epworth, England in 1703. In 1725 a year after he graduated from Christ Church, Oxford University, he was ordained a priest in the Church of England.

John and his brother Charles came to America in 1735 and settled in Georgia. When he was not permitted to preach in Anglican Churches he spoke to great crowds with his impressive sermons at open air meetings. He was the brilliant, dynamic founder of the new church and remained an Anglican priest throughout his life.

His brother, Charles became a Methodist preacher in 1738. He is best remembered as author of more than 6,000 hymns. He stayed closely to the great events of the Christian faith. He could write a hymn anywhere and at any time. His greatest one being "Jesus Lover."

In Westminster Abbey, London, England, there is a medallion relief of John and

Charles Wesley. John, the theologian of the Methodist Movement and Charles, the poet and singer. Charles was a missionary hymn writer all the time. His eye and pen were on the unconverted. He was out for results and that is one reason why his hymns are so personal and practical.

Francis Asbury was born in 1745 in Birmingham, England. He became a Christian at the age of 16. He worked as a blacksmith and joined the Wesleyan Conference in 1767. He became a preacher while still a boy. He answered the call of John Wesley as a volunteer and came to America in 1771. The voyage affected him in such a way that he had severe headaches for the next 44 years of his life. He preached 25,000 sermons and never wrote them down. He laid the foundation of a church which numbers 11 million after 200 years. He traveled 250,000 wilderness miles in 19 states.

Asbury maintained a close friendship with Philip William Otterben, co-founder and bishop of the United Brethren in Christ and took part when Asbury was ordained a bishop.

He had no home of his own and no address other than America. When he arrived in 1771 there were less than a dozen preachers and no more than 1,000 Methodists. When he died in 1816 there were 695 preachers and 214,000 Methodists in a flourishing church with nine annual conferences.

Mrs. DeLong, assisted by Mrs. Marion DeLong, served refreshments including a birthday cake for Mrs. Jennie Dean, gelatin, nuts, mints, punch, tea and coffee.

The February hostess will be Mrs. James Salyer and Mrs. Andrew Goeller will lead the program with the topic "China."

Don Archer Will Address DAR Chapter

Don Archer, conservationist, will be guest speaker for the 2 p.m. Tuesday meeting of Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. He will use as his subject "Our Work In Pickaway County" at the meeting to be held in the social rooms of Community United Methodist Church.

Chairman of DAR school committee, Mrs. Forrest Croman, requests members to bring their contributions for the Kate Duncan Smith and Tamassee Schools. Household articles or clothing are acceptable. The chairman will package the articles for shipment on the following Saturday. Chairman reports are due to the regent by Feb. 1st.

The University of Northern Colorado has seven academic colleges and schools.

MRS. JOHN E. JEFFRIES JR.

Miss Linda E. Riethmiller Bride Of John Jeffries Jr.

Miss Linda Elizabeth Riethmiller and Mr. John E. Jeffries Jr. were united in marriage at Trinity Lutheran Church 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 11th.

Pastor Carl G. Zehner officiated the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Riethmiller, 250 Meadow Drive, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Jeffries Sr., 1134 McGraw Road. The altar was decorated with evergreen and vases of red carnations, and the pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a V-neck white velvet gown with a fitted waistline. The long pointed sleeves and the deep front pleat of her skirt were edged in pearls. Her waist length veil of bridal illusion was attached to a white velvet and pearl headpiece. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Christy Dresbach served as maid of honor. She wore a dark green velvet gown with an empire bodice. Her headpiece was a dark green matching bow and she carried a bouquet of red variegated carnations.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Bruce Bell, sister of the bride; Miss Judy Riethmiller, sister of the bride and Mrs. Rodger William Groves, sister of the groom. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor in deep red velvet gowns and carried bouquets of green variegated carnations.

Mr. Richard Jeffries served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Mr. Charles Wiggins, Mr. Kenneth Crawford and Mr. Joseph Bruce Bell.

Mrs. Riethmiller was attired in a pink double knit suit with black accessories and a corsage of light pink carnations. Mrs. Jeffries selected a coral suit with black accessories and a corsage of deep pink carnations.

The reception in the home of the bride immediately followed the ceremony. The center table was covered with red satin with a scalloped white lace overlay held with clusters of holly. The top tier of the three tiered wedding cake was supported with pillars and white doves. It was decorated with poinsettias and topped with the traditional bride and groom. Red and green variegated carnations encircled the cake and the punch bowl. Completing the scene was an archway covered with live evergreen and trimmed in miniature lights.

Hostesses at the reception were Mrs. Chuck Twing, Miss Clara Carpenter, and Mrs. Andrew Kerr.

Traffic Safety Panel To Meet Friday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Governor's Traffic Safety Committee meets at the Statehouse Friday morning with representatives of more than 150 organizations to discuss motorist, passenger and pedestrian safety.

The committee, formed by Gov. John Gilligan, has a primary goal of establishing a traffic safety council in every county.

Early American Religion Morning Circle Program

Mrs. Louise Anderson presented the program for the recent meeting of Morning Circle of Calvary United Methodist Church in the home of Mrs. Dale DeLong, 590 Edgewood Drive.

In keeping with the holiday season Mrs. DeLong read the poem "Christmas" which was sent to her by the Rev. Charles Ashley. Mrs. Earl Millions led the 10 members and one guest in prayer.

President, Mrs. DeLong, reminded members of the World Day of Prayer to be held March 3. It was noted that workers are needed for the Clothing Center on Jan. 26.

New program books were distributed and 1972 reading course books will be ordered in the near future.

Mrs. Anderson used as her topic, "John And Charles Wesley and Francis Asbury." John, the eldest son of Samuel Wesley was born in Epworth, England in 1703. In 1725 a year after he graduated from Christ Church, Oxford University, he was ordained a priest in the Church of England.

John and his brother Charles came to America in 1733 and settled in Georgia. When he was not permitted to preach in Anglican Churches he spoke to great crowds with his impressive sermons at open air meetings. He was the brilliant, dynamic founder of the new church and remained an Anglican priest throughout his life.

His brother, Charles became a Methodist preacher in 1738. He is best remembered as author of more than 6,000 hymns. He stayed closely to the great events of the Christian faith. He could write a hymn anywhere and at any time. His greatest one being "Jesus Lover."

In Westminster Abbey, London, England, there is a medallion relief of John and

Charles Wesley. John, the theologian of the Methodist Movement and Charles, the poet and singer. Charles was a missionary hymn writer all the time. His eye and pen were on the unconverted. He was out for results and that is one reason why his hymns are so personal and practical.

Francis Asbury was born in 1745 in Birmingham, England. He became a Christian at the age of 16. He worked as a blacksmith and joined the Wesleyan Conference in 1767. He became a preacher while still a boy. He answered the call of John Wesley as a volunteer and came to America in 1771. The voyage affected him in such a way that he had severe headaches for the next 44 years of his life. He preached 25,000 sermons and never wrote them down. He laid the foundation of a church which numbers 11 million after 200 years. He traveled 250,000 wilderness miles in 19 states.

Asbury maintained a close friendship with Philip William Otterben, co-founder and bishop of the United Brethren in Christ and took part when Asbury was ordained a bishop.

He had no home of his own and no address other than America. When he arrived in 1771 there were less than a dozen preachers and no more than 1,000 Methodists. When he died in 1816 there were 695 preachers and 214,000 Methodists in a flourishing church with nine annual conferences.

Mrs. DeLong, assisted by Mrs. Marion DeLong, served refreshments including a birthday cake for Mrs. Jennie Dean, gelatin, nuts, mints, punch, tea and coffee.

The February hostess will be Mrs. James Salyer and Mrs. Andrew Goeller will lead the program with the topic "China."

Don Archer Will Address DAR Chapter

Don Archer, conservationist, will be guest speaker for the 2 p.m. Tuesday meeting of Pickaway Plains Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. He will use as his subject "Our Work In Pickaway County" at the meeting to be held in the social rooms of Community United Methodist Church.

Chairman of DAR school committee, Mrs. Forrest Croman, requests members to bring their contributions for the Kate Duncan Smith and Tamassee Schools. Household articles or clothing are acceptable. The chairman will package the articles for shipment on the following Saturday. Chairman reports are due to the regent by Feb. 1st.

The University of Northern Colorado has seven academic colleges and schools.

Claim Catholic Dioceses Fudging On Finance Data

NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops in the United States have been accused by a national lay organization of issuing "incomplete and misleading financial reports" while spending more than $6 million lobbying for more parochial school aid.

The National Association of Laity rated all 180 church dioceses individually and generalized that most failed to include income and assets of individual parishes.

Jack Yorke of Detroit, the association's president, said the "failure of Church leaders to disclose adequately the nature and scope of financial holdings has lowered public credibility in these leaders."

A spokesman for the U.S. Catholic Conference in Washington, Jack Shaw, replied that the bishops have approved a new system of diocesan financial accounting and reporting.

Shaw questioned the $6-million figure, called the criticism "negative carping" and said the "financial crisis of Catholic schools is overwhelmingly apparent with anyone with eyes to see."

The lay organization said more than one year was spent compiling its 111-page report which rates the dioceses from "A" to "F" on the completeness of their financial reports.

Not one diocese received an "A" and only the New Orleans diocese achieved a "B." There were 11 Cs, 27 Ds for alleged serious omissions and the rest Fs for alleged "misleading" presentations or for no reports.

Shaw said public financial reporting of dioceses had grown in recent years to the point that 80 per cent now made reports or were planning to do so.

New Parochial School Aid Law Planned For New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says his administration will draft a new plan to aid parochial and other nonpublic schools to replace a law ruled unconstitutional by a panel of three federal judges.

The special constitutional court barred the state from providing $33 million in aid under a 1971 law that allocated the money for "secular educational services for pupils in nonpublic schools."

After the decision Tuesday, Rockefeller said he was convinced "of the need for financial assistance within constitutional limits" and that an appropriate method could be found.

He told newsmen in Albany

Tuesday night the new plan would be presented to the legislature in "about a month."

The judges' unanimous decision noted that the New York State law was "substantially similar" to three other state laws that were declared unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court last June.

There are about 800,000 pupils in nonpublic schools in New York, about 20 per cent of the school population. The Catholic schools have maintained they are in deep financial trouble.

Supporters of the parochial aid concept fear that if the nonpublic schools were forced to close their pupils would glut the already overpopulated public school system.

Arthur L. Hinton was named Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Saltcreek Valley Bank, Laurelville.

Other directors named were Dr. C. T. Grattidge, W. K. Dumm, Raymond A. Hedges, Lloyd G. Whisler, Gilbert L. Armstrong and Thomas D. Rose.

Officers elected for 1972 were W. K. Dumm, president; Thomas D. Rose, executive vice president and secretary; Gwendolyn Egan, cashier; and N. Franklin Strous, assistant cashier.

Total assets of the bank as of Dec. 31, 1971, were $4,465,415.41.

Wyeth Commission Denied By Nixons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Artist Andrew Wyeth has not been commissioned to do an official portrait of President Nixon, a White House spokesman says.

Wyeth said Monday at his home in Chadds Ford, Pa., that Mrs. Nixon has asked him to paint the President's portrait "and I agreed to do so."

But assistant press secretary Helen Smith said Tuesday that no one has been officially commissioned. But when Nixon decides to have his portrait painted, she said, Wyeth probably will be the one to do it.

Weyerhaeuser Co. To Close Pulp Plant

SEATTLE (AP) — State ecology officials blame the uncertainties of federal antipollution laws for the decision by Weyerhaeuser Co. to close a pulp mill rather than meet pollution abatement requirements.

"If the state and the Weyerhaeuser Co. alone had addressed themselves to the problem, they would have found other meaningful solutions," state Ecology Department Director John Biggs said Tuesday.

Laurelville News

By Mrs. Roy Poling

Mrs. Hazel McNeal spent Christmas week with Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Beacher of Columbus.

The Women's Society of Christian Service at the Trinity Church met Thursday evening at the church with Miss Frances McClelland and Mrs. Arthur Hinton as hostesses.

The service was opened by all singing "Open My Eyes That I May See." The program, opening prayer and devotions were given by Rev. Baker. The 100 Psalm was read in unison. A Song, "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder" was sung. History was given by Rev. Baker and he also told about his travels. He closed the meeting with prayer.

Refreshments were served to 18 members by the hostesses.

Sunday afternoon visitors of Mrs. Hazel McNeal were Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Beacher and daughter Jane. Mrs. Ruth Beacher and Mrs. Betty Ipolito, all of Columbus; Mrs. Dorothy Kerns of Marietta Pike and Mr. and Mrs. William McNeal, Dianna Michael all of Kingston.

For the last two weeks the Laurelville Cub Scouts have been doing achievements from their books. The scouts are also working on a physical fitness program. Games are played and refreshments served at each meeting.

OHIO CASH GRAIN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Department of Agriculture cash grain prices: No. 2 red wheat mostly unchanged to 1 cent higher, 1.45-1.49, mostly 1.46-1.49; No. 2 yellow corn mostly 2 cents lower, 1.00-1.03, mostly 1.02-1.03; No. 2 oats unchanged to 1 cent higher, 70-75, mostly 70-72; soybeans mostly 6 cents lower, 2.86-2.94; mostly 2.89-2.92.

Congratulations. You just saved $5 by doing your own income tax. And all it cost you was three long, sleepless nights.

And a slight case of heartburn.

If you had gone to H & R Block, on the other hand, you could have relaxed while someone else figured out your return. Quickly and confidentially. Probably unlike any way you've ever done it before.

And, when you figure your own, you may be entitled to deductions you're not taking and taking deductions you're not entitled to. For instance, do you know all about deductions for child care or casualty losses? Or, that if your income increased over the last few years, you may save tax dollars by "income averaging?" And even if you did, would you know how to go about "income averaging?" Probably not. And there's no reason why you should. After all, you're an amateur when it comes to doing income tax.

You see, when it comes to income taxes, amateurs should depend on H & R Block. We have over 6,000 conveniently located offices manned by thousands of specially trained personnel. They're warm and friendly people who are anxious to help you. They'll sit you down over a free cup of coffee and show you some things about your income tax that you might never have known existed.

Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

This means that H & R Block is ready to offer you year 'round tax service for just one low fee a year, with no extra charge for audits and estimates.

H & R Block's charges start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for the 7 million families we served last year.

Which is somewhat less than what you paid.

Not to mention the fact that aggravation isn't tax deductible.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.

H&R Block.

Students Try For Jobs In W-S Program

Assistance is being solicited from local citizens to aid in Circleville High School's relatively new work-study program.

Mort Stein, head of the educational program, is seeking employment for about five of his junior students on an after-noon or evening basis.

The youths, aged 17, spend part of their day in school studies then are released to work for various employers throughout the Circleville area. Some of these teenagers are now working in food preparation and clean-up in restaurants, body work at a local independent auto repair business, motel domestic help, maintenance jobs, and assist in delivery at furniture business and housework.

Any employers who could use a boy or girl in their business in any capacity, or a homemaker who would like the assistance of a part-time domestic once or twice a week for a few hours, are asked to contact Stein at Circleville High School, Phone 474-4846 or 474-7478 during school hours.

Hearing Slated In Bomb Threat To TWA Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A preliminary hearing will be held in U.S. District Court Tuesday for a Columbus man accused of telephoning a bomb threat to a Trans World Airlines office here.

Edward James Mitchell, 22, was arrested by FBI agents Wednesday on a charge of willfully conveying false information. He was released on his own recognizance.

The threat caused TWA flight 544 from Columbus to Newark, N.J., carrying 41 passengers and seven crew members, to return to Port Columbus Airport Tuesday, shortly after takeoff. A search failed to turn up any bomb and the plane departed again, nearly two hours late.

Officials said Mitchell made the call as a last-minute effort to return a Columbus man to this city. It turned out, however, the man was not on the flight.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Judging from the goings-on Wednesday night, the television networks can hardly bear the prospect of a few months without football dominating their screens. There were two specials, both designed for laughter, but there was a hint of sadness about the seasonal departure of the game.

The premiere of ABC's "Comedy Hour" was a "Friar's Roast" with New York Jet star

Joe Namath as object of the jibes. It was only half-way through when CBS presented its "Super Comedy Bowl," ablaze with stars and football players, much of it directing attention to Sunday's Super Bowl which CBS will broadcast.

The ABC Friar's Roast was identical, except for the gags, with NBC Friar's Roasts of past seasons when they appeared as part of the by-gone "Music Hall" series.

The set up is a speakers' dais with the celebrities lined up to come on in turn. The television version is a laundered adaptation of a real stage event held by a show business organization. Both kinds are totally dedicated to insulting the honored guest.

While a 60-minute barrage of derogatory remarks can become tiresome, the speakers Wednesday turned in with few exceptions witty and merry monologues—even to a viewer with only mild interest in football or in Joe Namath as athlete, businessman, movie actor or swinger.

Buddy Hackett, as "roastmaster" was sly and rowdy in his introductions of speakers who ranged from California Gov. Ronald Reagan to Howard Cosell, ABC sportscaster. While the speakers' lines were bright and amusing, they built gradually. There were few one-or-two-liners such as that of Namath's teammate Emerson Bonzer who remarked that he flew from New York to Los Angeles to see Joe because "I so rarely get to see you." The line presupposed that every viewer knew that Joe's injuries had prevented him from playing most of the past two seasons—and probably everyone did.

An occasional show of this type is an interesting change. However, the format can not be used often without becoming predictable and repetitious.

"The Super Comedy Bowl" stars included two who were also prominent on the ABC program—Burt Reynolds and Tony Curtis. The hour's sketch material was not as bright as the stars who played in them and a lot of the jokes were pretty much inside.

Mort Stein, head of the educational program, is seeking employment for about five of his junior students on an afternoon or evening basis.

The youths, aged 17, spend part of their day in school studies then are released to work for various employers throughout the Circleville area. Some of these teenagers are now working in food preparation and clean-up in restaurants, body work at a local independent auto repair business, motel domestic help, maintenance jobs, and assist in delivery at furniture business and housework.

Any employers who could use a boy or girl in their business in any capacity, or a homemaker who would like the assistance of a part-time domestic once or twice a week for a few hours, are asked to contact Stein at Circleville High School. Phone 474-4846 or 474-7478 during school hours.

Hearing Slated In Bomb Threat To TWA Office

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A preliminary hearing will be held in U.S. District Court Tuesday for a Columbus man accused of telephoning a bomb threat to a Trans World Airlines office here.

Edward James Mitchell, 22, was arrested by FBI agents Wednesday on a charge of willfully conveying false information. He was released on his own recognizance.

The threat caused TWA flight 544 from Columbus to Newark, N.J., carrying 41 passengers and seven crew members, to return to Port Columbus Airport Tuesday, shortly after takeoff. A search failed to turn up any bomb and the plane departed again, nearly two hours late.

Officials said Mitchell made the call as a last-minute effort to return a Columbus man to this city. It turned out, however, the man was not on the flight.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Judging from the goings-on Wednesday night, the television networks can hardly bear the prospect of a few months without football dominating their screens. There were two specials, both designed for laughter, but there was a hint of sadness about the seasonal departure of the game.

The premiere of ABC's "Comedy Hour" was a "Friar's Roast" with New York Jet star

Joe Namath as object of the jibes. It was only half-way through when CBS presented its "Super Comedy Bowl," ablaze with stars and football players, much of it directing attention to Sunday's Super Bowl which CBS will broadcast.

The ABC Friar's Roast was identical, except for the gags, with NBC Friar's Roasts of past seasons when they appeared as part of the by-gone "Music Hall" series.

The set up is a speakers' dais with the celebrities lined up to come on in turn. The television version is a laundered adaptation of a real stage event held by a show business organization. Both kinds are totally dedicated to insulting the honored guest.

While a 60-minute barrage of derogatory remarks can become tiresome, the speakers Wednesday turned in with few exceptions witty and merry monologues—even to a viewer with only mild interest in football or in Joe Namath as athlete, businessman, movie actor or swinger.

Buddy Hackett, as "roastmaster" was sly and rowdy in his introductions of speakers who ranged from California Gov. Ronald Reagan to Howard Cosell, ABC sportscaster. While the speakers' lines were bright and amusing, they built gradually. There were few one-or-two-liners such as that of Namath's teammate Emerson Bonzer who remarked that he flew from New York to Los Angeles to see Joe because "I so rarely get to see you." The line presupposed that every viewer knew that Joe's injuries had prevented him from playing most of the past two seasons—and probably everyone did.

An occasional show of this type is an interesting change. However, the format can not be used often without becoming predictable and repetitious.

"The Super Comedy Bowl" stars included two who were also prominent on the ABC program—Burt Reynolds and Tony Curtis. The hour's sketch material was not as bright as the stars who played in them and a lot of the jokes were pretty much inside.

Congratulations. You just saved $5 by doing your own income tax.
And all it cost you was three long, sleepless nights.

And a slight case of heartburn.

If you had gone to H & R Block, on the other hand, you could have relaxed while someone else figured out your return. Quickly and confidentially. Probably unlike any way you've ever done it before.

And, when you figure your own, you may be entitled to deductions you're not taking and taking deductions you're not entitled to. For instance, do you know all about deductions for child care or casualty losses? Or, that if your income increased over the last few years, you may save tax dollars by "income averaging"? And even if you did, would you know how to go about "income averaging" to begin with? Probably not. And there's no reason why you should. After all, you're an amateur when it comes to doing income tax.

You see, when it comes to income taxes, amateurs should depend on H & R Block. We have over 6,000 conveniently located offices manned by thousands of specially trained personnel. They're warm and friendly people who are anxious to help you. They'll sit you down over a free cup of coffee and show you some things about your income tax that you might never have known existed. Furthermore, if your return is audited we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

This means that H & R Block is ready to offer you year 'round tax service for just one low fee a year, with no extra charge for audits and estimates. H & R Block's charges start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for the 7 million families we served last year.

Which is somewhat less than what you paid. Not to mention the fact that aggravation isn't tax deductible. And we are.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO

Clearcreek Board Passes On Salaries

Amanda-Clearcreek's Board of Education held its January meeting Monday and passed on new salary rates for teachers and non-certified employees.

Superintendent W. A. Smith reported that information received from the State Department and Internal Revenue Service indicate that boards and clerks are without authority to make retroactive pay due to the freeze at this time.

However, salary increases authorized by state legislation were adopted setting starting salaries in the district at $5,168 for non-degree teachers; $5,988 for teachers holding bachelor degrees, $6,204 for those with five years of training and $6,565 for holders of a masters degree.

Those achieving 11 years' service with the district will earn: non-degree $6,642; degree $8,472; five-year $9,027 and masters $9,696.

Rate of pay for substitute teachers was set at $21 per day effective Jan. 10. Non-certified employees were approved a salary increase of 20 cents per hour effective Jan. 1, subject to acceptance by the Price Wage Board. A new salary schedule for bus drivers effective in the 1972-73 school term is also awaiting approval of the Price Wage Board.

Superintendent Smith has been elected to the executive committee of the Ohio Association of Local Superintendents of which A-C is a member.

In other matters, board members approved a resolution to participate in a Title VI tutoring program, member Enos Fausnaugh was appointed to the PRIDE committee and authorization given for art instructor David Bennett to attend a Feb. 25 workshop at Athens.

Present at the evening session were Enos Fausnaugh, Jack W. Fausnaugh, Elwood Kim, Board President Ronald F. Bates, Clerk Ann Cole, Superintendent Smith, and principals, Richard Smith, Wayne Evans, Charles Martindale and Stephen Gahn. Guests at the meeting were school employees Rebecca Brotherton, Bruce Ebert, Marvin Valentine and Don Sharp.

Questions Taxpayers Ask

Q: My 17-year-old daughter has been disabled since birth. She and I are collecting monthly social security benefits on my deceased husband's earnings record. Is there any way my daughter's monthly benefits can continue after she reaches 18 even though she will not be attending school?

A: If her condition is severe and she remains in your care, you and your disabled daughter's social security benefits may continue after her 18th birthday. Call or visit the social security office about 6 months before your daughter's 18th birthday to apply for childhood disability benefits.

Q: I am 68 and collect monthly social security retirement benefits. But I also work part time during the year. How often should I ask the social security office to refigure my benefits based on additional earnings to see if I am due an increase in my checks?

A: You do not have to request the social security office to refigure your social security benefits. This is done automatically each year.

Q: My wife and I receive a combined monthly social security check. She plans to visit our daughter for several months and will be away from home. Can my wife get her benefit in a separate check?

A: Yes, she can. Your wife should call or visit her social security office to arrange to receive her check separately at your daughter's address. However, she should be sure to notify the social security office when she returns home.

Q: Since my father died, I've gotten monthly social security survivors benefits. I will turn 18 next year and will be graduating from high school. Can I continue to receive my checks if I go to college after graduation?

A: Yes. You may continue to receive survivors benefits until 22 as long as you are a full-time student and unmarried. You should receive a notice sometime before your 18th birthday telling you to get in touch with the social security office if you plan to continue in school.

Crackdown On Vice Set In Newport

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Owners and operators of 17 Newport nightspots will appear with their personnel and business records Monday before the Campbell County grand jury investigating a resurgence of prostitution and gambling.

The city of 28,000 gained national attention in the mid 1960s as "Sin City," until a reform movement swept the county. The federal government also prosecuted and convicted a number of gambling figures.

Judge Frederick Warren called on the grand jury to look into "persistent" rumors of expanding vice. He also told the jury to call in police officials to find out why the situation, if found, exists.

Judge Warren was elected in the reform movement called the Committee of 500 which also elected former Cleveland Browns quarterback George Ratterman sheriff.

Ratterman now lives in Denver, Colo.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Al Howe and Police Chief Buz Guzel said they have been conducting nightly checks for the past week at all Newport's night spots. So far they have found no trace of vice, they said.

Sheriff Howe, whose department delivered the subpoenas Wednesday, declined to name those called before the grand jury saying the jury's work was "secret."

All those served were ordered to bring all their business and personnel records dating back to July, 1971.

North Viet Troop Pullout Demanded At Paris Talks

PARIS (AP) — The South Vietnamese government asserted today that the withdrawal of all U.S. forces from South Vietnam depends on Communist willingness to negotiate the withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops as well as on the release of American prisoners of war.

The U.S. government endorsed this stand, which appeared to set a new condition for a total American withdrawal.

South Vietnamese representative Pham Dang Lam told the Communists at the 140th session of the Vietnam peace talks:

"Whether all the allied forces leave South Vietnam or there remain residual forces, and how long these forces will take to disengage, depends on whether or not you accept to negotiate seriously on the problem of troop withdrawal as part of an over-all settlement, as well as on the question of the release of prisoners of war."

U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter followed with a statement that "the representative of the government of the Republic of Vietnam has spoken for our side. I support his remarks."

Hanoi has never acknowledged the presence of North Vietnamese regular forces in South Vietnam and has always ignored demands to discuss their withdrawal.

President Nixon has said final withdrawal of U.S. forces depends on the release of the captive Americans and on the ability of the South Vietnamese government to survive without U.S. military support.

North Vietnam's deputy negotiator, Nguyen Minh Vy, said President Nixon's conditions for a total U.S. withdrawal showed that his administration "has not given up its position of aggression and colonialism."

Navy Jet Crashes Near Albany, Ga.

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — A Navy Vigilante jet crashed in a woods north of here Wednesday, but its fliers, Lt. Cmdr. P.E. Criswell of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, and D.T. Watts of Baltimore, Md., parachuted to safety.

The plane was on routine training mission out of the Albany Naval Air Station. A Navy spokesman said cause of the crash was not known immediately.

College Gets Preserve

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — Heidelberg College has been given a 40-acre woodland preserve north of Attica which will be maintained as a nature preserve. College President Leslie Fishel Jr. said Wednesday the land, a gift of the Frederick Hand family of Columbus, will be used by students for study of trees, flowers and wildlife.

Airplane Crash Kills Family From Cleveland

PERRY, Fla. (AP) — The bodies of three members of an Ohio family were found Wednesday in the wreckage of a small plane that disappeared on a flight from Asheville, N.C. to Ocala, Fla.

The victims were identified as Robert Melreitt, 51; his wife, Elizabeth, 51, and their daughter, Aimee, 18, of Gates Mills, a suburb of Cleveland.

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said the plane was last heard from at 4:36 p.m. Tuesday near the Georgia Florida border.

The wreckage was found

Gilligan Fights Drug Problem

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan says his administration is "determined to eliminate the drug problem in Ohio and crack down on the cold-blooded murderers who sell drugs to their victims."

Gilligan said in a speech here Wednesday he has asked the General Assembly for $15.5 million for his drug abuse program. The governor called the $500,000 appropriated last year a "negligible sum."

"There's no greater menace in our society today than drugs," the governor said. "We're going after the menace, and we intend to eliminate it."

U.S. To Pump Up Cambodian Currency?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has confirmed a report by columnist Jack Anderson that it has pledged $12.5 million to an international fund designed to stabilize Cambodia's shaky currency.

But press officer Charles W. Bray III said Tuesday the pledge is subject to congressional approval, and "it would be a mistake to conclude from this that the United States is engaged in some kind of shady deal."

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Icy air from the Canadian Arctic will move into Ohio this morning sending temperatures, which edged into the upper 40s and low 50s overnight, plummeting.

Readings across the state are expected to dip to the 20s this afternoon.

The colder weather will be accompanied by light snow, ending this evening except for flurries in northeastern counties.

The cold weather is expected to remain over the weekend. Highs Sunday and Monday should reach only 15 to 25.

A small, but intense storm north of the Great Lakes resulted in winter weather warnings from the state of Washington to the lower Lakes Wednesday. The storm has pulled Arctic air into the Plains States and as far south as Texas.

The cold will dominate weather in the eastern two-thirds of the country, including Ohio, for the next four or five days.

FORECASTS

OHIO—Cloudy with snow ending over most of the state tonight, except for flurries in northeast counties. Lows 15 to 20 north and in the 20s south. Friday mostly cloudy with a chance of snow flurries northeast. Highs in the 20s and low 30s.

NORTHWEST INLAND, WEST LAKE SHORE—Cloudy and quite cold tonight. Lows 10 to 15. Mostly cloudy and continued cold Friday. Highs in the mid 20s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL—Cloudy and cold tonight with snow ending. Lows around 15. Partly cloudy and cold Friday. Highs in the mid 20s.

SOUTHWEST—Snow ending early tonight and turning much colder. Lows in the low 20s. Mostly cloudy and cold Friday. Highs in the upper 20s.

EAST CENTRAL, SOUTH-EAST—Cloudy and cold tonight

Record Low 181 Mine Deaths Reported During Past Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — A record few 181 coal miners died in mine accidents in the nation last year, but while federal mine-safety officials and mine operators applauded the figure, critics said better safety efforts could have lowered it even more.

"I think the decline has a great deal to do with stronger enforcement and the programs we've had," said a federal Bureau of Mines official who asked not to be named.

"These encouraging statistics clearly indicate that the Bureau of Mines, coal mine operators and the miners themselves are taking seriously their responsibilities," said Joseph E. Moody, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators' Association, Inc.

But Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., said the bureau still is not living up to the spirit of the 1969 Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act, which he helped sponsor.

"While the statistics may show some sign of improvement in safety conditions, the improvement has not yet been as great as it should be," Hechler said Wednesday after the figures were released by the Bureau of Mines. "We don't get safety until those administering the law get tough."

Joseph "Chip" Yablonski Jr., son of the slain insurgent United Mine Workers leader, agreed with Hechler.

"If the bureau really went to work these fatalities could be cut in half," Yablonski said. "Instead everybody runs around saying: 'Hey, we only killed 200 people last year.'"

The decline in total deaths, 79 fewer than in 1970 and 22 fewer than in the best previous year of 1969, was due in part to a 54-day strike that kept many mines closed.

But the rate at which miners died while actually on the job also declined to a record low of 0.64 deaths for every million man-hours in the mines.

with snow ending. Lows in the upper 20s. Friday mostly cloudy. Highs near 30.

This is down from 1.02 in 1970 and 0.85 in 1969. However, the death rate for coal mining remains an estimated 25 times higher than the average for all industry, according to Bureau of Labor statistics.

The 181 deaths for 1971 were the fewest since records were first kept in 1910, a bureau official said. They compare with 2,821 deaths in 1910, 2,063 in 1930 and 643 in 1950.

The decline in total deaths since 1910 has come principally because of a drop in the number of miners due to increasing use of machinery. The death rate has declined much more slowly than total deaths.

Computers Are Fraud, Prof Says

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—"Computers are a fraud. They've done really very little for us." So says Dr. Kenneth Boulding, a University of Colorado professor who spoke Wednesday at Wright State University here.

According to the professor, "Automation seems to be a total fraud. There is not the slightest evidence of greatly increasing productivity in manufacturing processes."

Boulding, appearing on Wright State's Distinguished Scholar Lecture Series, said there have been few qualitative changes in the last 25 years. He noted, "Television might be one."

He cited molecular biology as the only science to come up with major contributions in the last 20 years. And he said that while productivity has been increasing from two to four per cent annually for the last century, it has hardly increased at all since 1967.

Of the significance of computers, he added, "The only impacts on human life that I can see are easier airline reservations, continuous compound interest and enormous numbers of pages gathering dust."

Fire Proves Fatal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Steve Hammond, in her 40s, died Wednesday when a fire apparently caused by a faulty furnace destroyed a mobile home in Jackson Township.

Seaway Season May Be Extended

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—The Winter Navigation Board, composed of 11 federal agencies, concluded a three-day field observation Wednesday amid indications that this year's navigation season may extend beyond a scheduled Jan. 31 closing.

Officials of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Coast Guard and shipping representatives indicated the Soo Locks could stay open longer than originally planned because of relatively mild weather so far this winter.

The navigation board, operating under a $6.5 million congressional appropriation, has undertaken a three-year program to demonstrate the feasibility of extending the shipping season on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Strip Mine Regulations Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three major recommendations to strengthen and improve a proposed strip mine bill were made Wednesday by a spokesman for the Ohio Reclamation Association.

John Edwards, an attorney, said these recommendations came from the mining industry:

—Require minimizing of siltation and erosion through use of established soil and water conservation practices.

—Encourage water impoundments for use by livestock and as recreation areas, to charge ground water supplies and to curtail erosion and siltation.

The key to the law, Edward said, was a plan for use and reclamation of land prior to striping.

He told the committee not all strip mine sites in Ohio can be treated and reclaimed the same way.

Edward recommended that soil conditioning and planting be done together at the proper time. The proposed bill requires soil preparation within six months after a stripping operation ends, but Edwards said it might be months before weather would be suitable for planting.

Edwards said the mining industry accepts a strong strip mine law requiring conservation and long-range reclamation.

"The goals of good reclamation are not in disagreement," he said.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service:

Icy air from the Canadian Arctic will move into Ohio this morning sending temperatures, which edged into the upper 40s and low 50s overnight, plummeting.

Readings across the state are expected to dip to the 20s this afternoon.

The colder weather will be accompanied by light snow, ending this evening except for flurries in northeastern counties.

The cold weather is expected to remain over the weekend. Highs Sunday and Monday should reach only 15 to 25.

A small, but intense storm north of the Great Lakes resulted in winter weather warnings from the state of Washington to the lower Lakes Wednesday. The storm has pulled Arctic air into the Plains States and as far south as Texas.

The cold will dominate weather in the eastern two-thirds of the country, including Ohio, for the next four or five days.

FORECASTS

OHIO—Cloudy with snow ending over most of the state tonight, except for flurries in northeast counties. Lows 15 to 20 north and in the 20s south. Friday mostly cloudy with a chance of snow flurries northeast. Highs in the 20s and low 30s.

NORTHWEST INLAND, WEST LAKE SHORE—Cloudy and quite cold tonight. Lows 10 to 15. Mostly cloudy and continued cold Friday. Highs in the mid 20s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL—Cloudy and cold tonight with snow ending. Lows around 15. Partly cloudy and cold Friday. Highs in the mid 20s.

SOUTHWEST—Snow ending early tonight and turning much colder. Lows in the low 20s. Mostly cloudy and cold Friday. Highs in the upper 20s.

EAST CENTRAL, SOUTHEAST—Cloudy and cold tonight

Strip Mine Regulations Proposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Three major recommendations to strengthen and improve a proposed strip mine bill were made Wednesday by a spokesman for the Ohio Reclamation Association.

John Edwards, an attorney, said these recommendations came from the mining industry:

—Require more detailed and specific plans for use and reclamation practices for land before strip mining can begin.

—Require minimizing of siltation and erosion through use of established soil and water conservation practices.

The bill protects the territory of 16 Republican and seven Democratic incumbents. Ohio is to lose one of its 24 congressional seats because of national population shifts.
The bill takes care of the matter by combining the districts of two Republicans, Rep. William McCullough, R-4 Piqua, and Rep. Jackson Betts, R-8 Findlay. Betts has indicated he plans to retire.
The bill providing for a 10 per cent or 38-cent-an-hour pay raise, whichever is greater, is expected to be reported out of the House Finance Committee and headed toward a floor vote early in the day.
Rep. Lloyd George Kerns, R-16 Richmond, has labeled the bill a poorly-drafted measure. He is Finance Committee chairman.
There were indications that the committee may strike out additional death benefits for state retirees in an effort to economize.
The House gave an indication that the Legislature would recess after this week's session until March 8. It set that date for naming a conference committee to work out differences between the House and Senate versions of the full crew law repeal.
The bill was passed by the Senate Tuesday, but was amended to the point where the fifth man would still be required on any train over 5,000 feet in length. Testimony revealed that the average train in Ohio is over that length.
Two motions, one to reconsider the vote, and another to do it immediately, were offered in the Senate, then withdrawn during the day.
The bill, originated in the House, passed after long debate.
The Senate did approve 30-0 a bill that would require school districts to provide classes for handicapped children not now enrolled in public education. The measure, which could provide special education for 150,000 youths, now goes to the House.
In other action Wednesday, the Senate passed a House-authored bill requiring able-bodied persons to work for welfare checks.
Approved 29-1, the bill now goes back to the House for approval of Senate amendments.
The measure, carried in the Senate by Sen. Ralph Regula, R-29 Navarre, would affect an estimated 29,000 recipients of poor relief and Aid to Dependent Children.
It would curtail the mailing of welfare checks to recipients located in counties that have Bureau of Employment Services offices. These persons would be required to claim their checks in person and accept government relief work that was offered.
Regula said welfare recipients who do not live in a county with a bureau office would continue to receive checks by mail.
Regula said the bill would strengthen present welfare laws. He said a similar measure adopted in New York had curtailed expenditures drastically.
The lone vote against the bill was cast by Sen. William Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati.
In the House a bill that would keep financial windfalls or losses from occurring in political subdivisions because of a Board of Tax Appeals decision that all real property be appraised at 35 per cent of true value was offered in the House by Rep. Don Maddux, D-25 Lancaster.
The board set the percentage after the Ohio Supreme Court ordered that all tax assessments be levied at a uniform rate on all kinds of property.
A bill sponsored by Rep. William Hinig, D-32 New Philadelphia, would exempt all pensions and retirement income from the new state income tax. Gov. John Gilligan has said he would go along with such exemptions.

Rep. Lloyd George Kerns, R-16 Richmond, has labeled the bill a poorly-drafted measure. He is Finance Committee chairman.

Forgotten Man Freed From Jail

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Raymond Ryan, 51, has been freed from Cuyahoga County Jail, where he was held on an armed robbery charge, because county prosecutors apparently forgot about him.

Ryan was indicted last March for a Dec. 1, 1970, robbery in which $191 was taken from a woman at gunpoint. Under state law, a man must be brought to trial within two court terms after he is indicted, unless a continuance has been granted.

The prosecution failed to ask for a continuance, so Ryan's attorney, Simon Amdur, filed a motion to have his client released after the new term of court started last week.

"I had to let him go," said Common Pleas Court Judge Adrian Fink Jr. "That's the law."

Amdur said the prosecutors "simply forgot about the man being in jail. Under the law that was a boo-boo, a no-no."

Ryan, who has a long arrest record, has insisted he was innocent. He said in the last 35 years he frequently has been picked up for suspicion of crimes, then released. He was convicted on larceny charges in 1935 and 1940 and for relief fraud in 1963.

Released from jail Tuesday, he says he is looking for a job.

Indiana Escapees Captured In Dayton

Arrested were Carlos Evans Watson, 24, of Henderson, Ky., and Nathaniel Butler, 23, of Chicago.

Blaze Strikes Williamsport Area House

Fire destroyed the upper half of a two-story shingled house 6:30 p.m. Wednesday owned by Howard Smith, Route 2, Williamsport.

Damage was set at $3,000 by the Williamsport Fire Department. The blaze was contained to the upper portion.

The house was rented by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, who were in the process of taking over the occupancy.

Johnson returned to the house about 6:15 p.m. from work and doused a fire that had been started in the fire place by his wife, according to a report compiled by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

As the couple were leaving, Johnson noticed smoke still coming from the chimney.

He climbed to the roof and noted that the shingle covering was hot and smoking.

Mrs. Johnson called the Williamsport Fire Department, who arrived after the dwelling had burst into flames.

'Smart Bombs' Prove Worth Against Small Viet Targets

WASHINGTON (AP)—With a television camera in its nose and a steering system in its tail, the Air Force's "smart bomb" strikes its target in Indochina 10 times more often than a conventional bomb.

That judgment was offered by pilots now stationed at the Pentagon after duty in Vietnam and experience with the two types of smart bombs first introduced in Southeast Asia four years ago.

The other type relies on a laser beam to lock the bomb onto its target.

Pilots say the tenfold increase in accuracy curtails the number of repeat sorties to bomb targets missed the first time around and thus, reduces the risk to pilot and plane.

Specific figures are classified, but reports after the laser-guided bombs were first introduced in Vietnam said more than 70 per cent of nearly 1,000 dropped found their mark.

Contrary to some reports, smart bombs are unable to zoom around hillsides or crawl around corners, but they are able to knock out such difficult targets as narrow road intersections, bridges, dams, tunnels and supply caches which often defy destruction with conventional bombs or air-to-ground missiles.

Essentially, smart bombs are conventional iron bombs of 750, 1,000 or 2,000 pounds equipped with either a laser guidance kit or electro-optical (TV) kit. They differ from missiles in that they have no propulsion system other than gravity and the speed of release.

With the laser-guided bomb, the forward air controller spots the target with a laser beam, an intense narrow cone of light. Reflected radar radiation off the target is picked up by a second plane which dives into attack, locks onto the target electronically and pitches its bomb onto the laser beam. A guidance seeker on the bomb nose rides the beam home.

Pilots armed with the electro-optical or TV guided bomb pick up the target on a five-inch television screen in their cockpit.

Similar to a standard TV camera, the optical seeker in the bomb's nose locks onto the target and automatically guides the weapon to impact, steered on the way by a guidance control system which maneuvers the tail fins much like the tail assembly on an airplane. Although reported to be highly accurate, the smart bombs can be used only in good weather when the target can be sighted visually by pilots. Smart bombs are not intended as a replacement for conventional bombs which still see heavy usage in nighttime raids, in bad weather and against larger targets where pinpoint accuracy is unnecessary.

Air Force officials estimated that smart bombs accounted for less than one per cent of the 300,000 tons of aerial munitions dropped in Indochina in 1971.

series of party caucuses. The bill protects the territory of 16 Republican and seven Democratic incumbents. Ohio is to lose one of its 24 congressional seats because of national population shifts.

The bill takes care of the matter by combining the districts of two Republicans, Rep. William McCullough, R-4 Piqua, and Rep. Jackson Betts, R-8 Findlay. Betts has indicated he plans to retire.

The bill providing for a 10 per cent or 38-cent-an-hour pay raise, whichever is greater, is expected to be reported out of the House Finance Committee and headed toward a floor vote early in the day.

Rep. Lloyd George Kerns, R-16 Richwood, has labeled the bill a poorly-drafted measure. He is Finance Committee chairman.

There were indications that the committee may strike out additional death benefits for state retirees in an effort to economize.

The House gave an indication that the Legislature would recess after this week's session until March 8. It set that date for naming a conference committee to work out differences between the House and Senate versions of the full crew law repeal.

The bill was passed by the Senate Tuesday, but was amended to the point where the fifth man would still be required on any train over 5,000 feet in length. Testimony revealed that the average train in Ohio is over that length.

Two motions, one to reconsider the vote, and another to do it immediately, were offered in the Senate, then withdrawn during the day.

The bill, originated in the House, passed after long debate.

The Senate did approve 30-0 a bill that would require school districts to provide classes for handicapped children not now enrolled in public education. The measure, which could provide special education for 150,000 youths, now goes to the House.

In other action Wednesday, the Senate passed a House-authored bill requiring able-bodied persons to work for welfare checks.

Approved 29-1, the bill now goes back to the House for approval of Senate amendments.

The measure, carried in the Senate by Sen. Ralph Regula, R-29 Navarre, would affect an estimated 29,000 recipients of poor relief and Aid to Dependent Children.

It would curtail the mailing of welfare checks to recipients located in counties that have Bureau of Employment Services offices. These persons would be required to claim their checks in person and accept government relief work that was offered.

Regula said welfare recipients who do not live in a county with a bureau office would continue to receive checks by mail.

Regula said the bill would strengthen present welfare laws. He said a similar measure adopted in New York had curtailed expenditures drastically.

The lone vote against the bill was cast by Sen. William Bowen, D-9 Cincinnati.

In the House a bill that would keep financial windfalls or losses from occurring in political subdivisions because of a Board of Tax Appeals decision that all real property be appraised at 35 per cent of true value was offered in the House by Rep. Don Maddux, D-25 Lancaster.

The board set the percentage after the Ohio Supreme Court ordered that all tax assessments be levied at a uniform rate on all kinds of property.

A bill sponsored by Rep. William Hinig, D-32 New Philadelphia, would exempt all pensions and retirement income from the new state income tax. Gov. John Gilligan has said he would go along with such exemptions.

Forgotten Man Freed From Jail

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Raymond Ryan, 51, has been freed from Cuyahoga County Jail, where he was held on an armed robbery charge, because county prosecutors apparently forgot about him.

Ryan was indicted last March for a Dec. 1, 1970, robbery in which $191 was taken from a woman at gunpoint. Under state law, a man must be brought to trial within two court terms after he is indicted, unless a continuance has been granted.

The prosecution failed to ask for a continuance, so Ryan's attorney, Simon Amdur, filed a motion to have his client released after the new term of court started last week.

"I had to let him go," said Common Pleas Court Judge Adrian Fink Jr. "That's the law."

Amdur said the prosecutors "simply forgot about the man being in jail. Under the law that was a boo-boo, a no-no."

Ryan, who has a long arrest record, has insisted he was innocent. He said in the last 35 years he frequently has been picked up for suspicion of crimes, then released. He was convicted on larceny charges in 1935 and 1940 and for relief fraud in 1963.

Released from jail Tuesday, he says he is looking for a job.

Indiana Escapees Captured In Dayton

Arrested were Carlos Evans Watson, 24, of Henderson, Ky., and Nathaniel Butler, 23, of Chicago.

Blaze Strikes Williamsport Area House

Fire destroyed the upper half of a two-story shingled house 6:30 p.m. Wednesday owned by Howard Smith, Route 2, Williamsport.

Damage was set at $3,000 by the Williamsport Fire Department. The blaze was contained to the upper portion.

The house was rented by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, who were in the process of taking over the occupancy.

Johnson returned to the house about 6:15 p.m. from work and doused a fire that had been started in the fire place by his wife, according to a report compiled by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

As the couple were leaving, Johnson noticed smoke still coming from the chimney.

He climbed to the roof and noted that the shingle covering was hot and smoking.

Mrs. Johnson called the Williamsport Fire Department, who arrived after the dwelling had burst into flames.

'Smart Bombs' Prove Worth Against Small Viet Targets

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a television camera in its nose and a steering system in its tail, the Air Force's "smart bomb" strikes its target in Indochina 10 times more often than a conventional bomb.

That judgment was offered by pilots now stationed at the Pentagon after duty in Vietnam and experience with the two types of smart bombs first introduced in Southeast Asia four years ago.

The other type relies on a laser beam to lock the bomb onto its target.

Pilots say the tenfold increase in accuracy curtails the number of repeat sorties to bomb targets missed the first time around and thus, reduces the risk to pilot and plane.

Specific figures are classified, but reports after the laser-guided bombs were first introduced in Vietnam said more than 70 per cent of nearly 1,000 dropped found their mark.

Contrary to some reports, smart bombs are unable to zoom around hillsides or crawl around corners, but they are able to knock out such difficult targets as narrow road intersections, bridges, dams, tunnels and supply caches which often defy destruction with conventional bombs or air-to-ground missiles.

Essentially, smart bombs are conventional iron bombs of 750, 1,000 or 2,000 pounds equipped with either a laser guidance kit or electro-optical (TV) kit. They differ from missiles in that they have no propulsion system other than gravity and the speed of release.

Tigers Face Key SCOL Encounter At Wilmington

It's do or die for the Circleville Tigers Friday night when they travel to Wilmington to take on the Hurricane in a South Central Ohio League contest.

The Tigers with two losses in the SCOL must win if they are going to stand any chance to repeat as league champions.

Miami Trace is still unbeaten in league competition but the Panthers will have to come to Roundtown Jan. 21 and also have another clash with Greenfield McClain.

Circleville will have another crack at Greenfield on Feb. 11 when the Tigers travel to McClain.

WILMINGTON is 1-8 for the season, winless in the SCOL, but have played a tough out of league schedule.

The Hurricane's lone win came at the expense of Dayton Fairborn, 56-53, but the Wilmington squad has only had the home court advantage on two occasions this season.

Under new coach Buddy Bell the Hurricane uses a 3-2 offense paced by the fine outside shooting of Robert Raizk and Bill McClary.

Defensively they alternate with a man to man, 1-2-2 zone and a full court, 1-2-1, zone press.

Wilmington will probably go with Mark Carnahan, 6-foot-2, and John Halley, 5-foot-11, at the forwards, 6-foot-4 Chris Breuleux at center, Raizk, 5-foot-11, and either McClary, 5-foot-10, or Bruce Surface, 5-foot-10, at the guards.

McDowell's seventh and eighth grade cagers both came up with victories Wednesday against Monroe Westfall on the latter's court.

The McDowell eighth graders had to battle for their lives in the closing minutes of the contest, after holding an advantage in the first three periods, to gain a 53-46 win.

McDowell led 12-1 at the end of the first frame, was out in front 23-16 at halftime and held a 39-33 advantage at the conclusion of three periods.

Monroe rallied to take a one-point lead in the final canto but McDowell came back to gain the win.

Jeff Reichelderfer led the winners with 18 points, Scott Allen had 13, Steve Rawlins 12, Bob Sargent eight and Lonnie Maxson two.

For Monroe, Reid, Karsner and Hildbrand each netted 10 markers.

The McDowell seventh graders led all the way to come up with a 31-26 victory in a tight contest.

They were on top 8-4 at the end of the first frame, led 11-10 at the half, and was out in front 21-19 after three periods of play.

Mark Skinner led McDowell with 11 points, Randy Pontius and Chuck Cave each had six and Doug Woods and Kenny Speakman had four apiece.

Dountz hooped 10 markers and Rawland nine for Monroe.

South Carolina Routs Manhattan, 116-78

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Danny Traylor was left on his own because of an injury to Tom Riker—and the hulking 7-foot junior more than made up for the absence of his forecourt colleague.

The 250-pound Traylor from Winston-Salem, N.C., played the best game of his collegiate career, scoring 37 points, grabbing 20 rebounds and blocking six shots Wednesday night in leading South Carolina's fourth-ranked basketball team to a 116-78 rout of Manhattan.

"He knew he had to do it alone, and he really came through," said South Carolina Coach Frank McGuire.

The 6-10 Riker sat on the bench in street clothes nursing a fractured bone in his left hand, suffered in Sunday's 72-71 setback to second-ranked Marquette.

McGuire said he directed his players to "go inside to Danny more during the second half, and he came through with some beautiful moves under the basket."

The victory boosted South Carolina's record to 8-2. Manhattan, 1-8, was led by 6-7 Ron

Manning with 23 points. Meanwhile, third-ranked North Carolina pulled away in the second half for an 81-61 victory over Clemson in an Atlantic Coast Conference game. Assistant coaches Bill Gohtsridge and John Lotz directed the Tar Heels in the second half after Head Coach Dean Smith was ejected by referee Lou Moser. Smith was tossed out and charged with two technical fouls for grabbing Moser's arm as the teams went off the court at halftime with North Carolina leading by only two points. "It was a misunderstanding," Smith said afterward. "Tates Locke (Clemson coach) and I were going to talk to the officials about the calls in an aggressive game." Bob McAdo's 28 points paced the Tar Heels, now 10-1. Fifth-rated Louisville won its 10th in a row after an opening loss, downing Dayton 71-64 behind Jim Price's 25 points. Unbeaten Virginia, the No. 8 team, won its 12th game, trouncing George Washington 97-76 as Barry Parkhill led the way with 23 points. Ronnie Run scored a career high 34 for George Washington.

Dwight Lamar, the nation's leading scorer, played despite the flu and a 101 temperature, but still managed to score 31 points, helping 13th-rated Southwestern Louisiana raise its record to 10-1 with a 99-79 romp over Eastern New Mexico. Roy Ebron, a 6-9 sophomore, led Southwestern with 35 points and 15 rebounds. Hawaii, ranked 19th, posted its 12th victory in 13 starts, holding off Connecticut 77-71. Marshall, rated 20th, increased its winning streak to seven games and its over-all record to 11-2, overpowering DePaul 102-76 as Russell Lee scored a season-high 33 points. Tom Burleson, North Carolina State's 7-4 sophomore, poured in 30 points and snared 12 rebounds, sparking the Wolfpack to an 85-58 triumph over ACC rival Duke.

Larry Finch's 24 points paced Memphis State to an 82-65 victory over Louisiana State. Mark Wehrle and Dan McGuire split 44 points in guiding Rice to an 87-74 decision over Georgia Tech.

Sophomore Bill Knight's 26 points keyed Pitt's 91-76 victory over Davidson. West Virginia posted its sixth triumph in seven games, beating Bucknell 88-73 as Wil Robinson pumped in 24 points.

Toledo's high-flying Rockets breezed to their eighth consecutive victory and 10th in 11 games, soaring past Butler 78-55 with Tom Kozelko scoring 27 points.

Paul Erland, who finished with 38 points, tied the score at the end of regulation time with a 25-foot field goal, then hit six points in overtime, leading Dartmouth past Boston College 93-88. Lafayette, 8-1, got 36 points from Tracy Tripucka and rolled to a 100-64 victory over Columbia.

Travis Grant, the nation's college division scoring leader, collected 36 points as Kentucky State whipped Lincoln 106-90.

Toledo - OU Game Tops MAC Slate

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Even though it's only the third conference basketball contest for both, that Toledo at Ohio University contest Saturday afternoon already looms as the Mid-American game of the year.

The Bobcats matched Toledo's 2-0 league start and dealt Kent State its first Mid-American setback Wednesday night 85-74, doing it with scoring balance.

"We had good movement the first half and drew offensive fouls," said Ohio mentor Jim Snyder.

Miami, the defending Mid-American champion, scored its first league victory in three tries, also turning balanced point-making into an 86-64 romp over visiting Western Michigan.

Fifth-ranked Louisville, despite 28 career-high points by Dayton sophomore Donald Smith, slipped past the host Flyers 71-64 for the second time this season.

Toledo, 10-1, tuned up for the battle with the Bobcats, rolling to its eighth straight triumph and handing Butler its worst setback of the season 78-55.

Elsewhere, Capital remained Ohio's lone unbeaten college five, putting away victory No. 10 with a 99-83 romp at Central State.

In other games, it was Ohio Wesleyan 93, Denison 70; Wittenberg 73, Otterbein 68 in overtime; Findlay 94, Bluffton 60; Rio Grande 104, Lander 92; Cleveland State 64, Akron 58; Ohio Dominican 91, Walsh 50 in overtime; Wooster 76, Mount Union 75; Youngstown State 70, Gannon 54.

Ohio's stellar play in the first half gave it a 44-31 halftime lead and the Bobcats never trailed although Kent once closed it to 71-66.

Tom Corde, who scored a game-high 23 points, put Ohio out of danger with a three-point play.

Frank Truitt, whose Kent team is now 1-1 in the Mid-American said, "We couldn't get any movement in the first half and didn't get any loose balls like we did in the second half."

Miami's must victory was paced by Darrell Dunlap with 17 points and the Redskins rolled into a 49-23 halftime lead. The loss dropped Western Michigan, led by Charlie Sidwell's 16 points, to an 0-2 conference mark.

Toledo's pressing man-to-man defense limited Butler to 26 percent field goal shooting. Tom Kozelko provided the offensive punch for the Rockets with 27 points and 14 rebounds.

Smith had 28 points, but Louisville shut the 6-foot-6 guard out the last 11 minutes to turn a close contest into a comfortable victory.

"We played him (Smith) tighter before he got the ball and double teamed him," said Louisville Coach Denny Crum of the Cards' closing-minutes strategy.

Jim Price, a 6-2 senior guard, paced the Cardinals to their tenth straight triumph after an opening loss with 24 points. Dayton is now 5-6.

Football Hall Of Fame Visitors Double

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The number of persons visiting the Pro Football Hall of Fame here nearly doubled in 1971, a spokesman for the hall said Wednesday.

The spokesman said 220,881 visited the hall during the past year, compared to 122,738 in 1970 and 58,833 in 1968. The jump in attendance has been so remarkable, the spokesman said, that more people — 61,180 — attended in August, 1971, than did in the entire year of 1968.

Royals Stun L.A. Lakers, Win 108-107

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wednesday night was the kind of night National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy dreams about:

Four games on the NBA schedule were decided by schedule — two were decided by two points.

What's more, the three teams with the best records in the NBA — Los Angeles, Milwaukee and Chicago — all were beaten, adding some support to the old claim that on any given night

.... The Lakers, 39-3 on the season prior to Sunday, lost for the second time in three games when Tom Van Arsdale sank a 15-foot jumper with just one second showing on the clock to give the Cincinnati Royals a 108-107 decision over Los Angeles.

The Bucks, who ended Los Angeles' record 33-game winning streak Sunday, lost their second in a row when Lou Hudson poured in 20 points in the second half to lift Atlanta to a 104-102 victory over Milwaukee.

And the Bulls, trying to gain ground on Milwaukee in the NBA's Midwest Division race, were thwarted when Don Nelson tipped in a shot by JoJo White with three seconds left, then added a free throw to give the Boston Celtics a 113-112 decision over Chicago.

In the other NBA game, Bob Kauffman sank a pair of free throws with two seconds left to lift Buffalo to a 111-109 upset of Philadelphia.

Expos Select 6-Foot, 10-Inch Pitcher Wayne Piper, Jr.

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Who is the tallest baseball pitcher you can think of? Well, we've got one who's taller.

Is your man Gene Conley? He's 6-foot-8, a shrimp compared to our guy.

Do you like Johnny Gee? At 6-foot-9, he'd still look up to our man.

Meet Wayne Piper Jr., 6-feet, 10-inches worth of pitcher, selected Wednesday by the Montreal Expos in the opening round of baseball's winter free agent draft.

"He's probably a side-armer," noted Monte Irvin, a member of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's staff who used to make a living swinging a bat against guys like Conley, the ex-Braves and Red Sox pitcher, and Gee, who used to hurl for the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants.

Piper was one of 15 pitchers selected by the 24 major league teams in the opening round of the draft as the farm directors and scouts went holler-happy.

The No. 1 selection was Eric Raich, a strapping right-hander from the University of Southern California, chosen by the Cleveland Indians.

Chicago Black Hawks Tie With Rangers, 5-5

Jerry Korab, Chicago's strapping rookie defenseman, bruised the New York Rangers Wednesday night—not by fighting, but by scoring his second goal of the National Hockey League season.

Korab put all the muscle on his 6-foot-3, 215-pound frame behind a 70-foot slap shot late in the third period and rocketed the puck past Ranger goalie Eddie Giacomin to earn Chicago a 5-5 tie with New York in a battle of NHL division leaders.

Matty Alou, Julian Javier and rookie pitcher Santiago Guzman, Dominican Republic natives, are on the 1972 roster of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Meet The Vikings

Wayne Wright (13) and Mike Peterson (33) are junior members of the Westfall High School basketball team. Wright is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Wright, Green St., Williamsport, and Peterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Peterson, Route 1, Orient.

Tigers Face Key SCOL Encounter At Wilmington

It's do or die for the Circleville Tigers Friday night when they travel to Wilmington to take on the Hurricane in a South Central Ohio League contest.

The Tigers with two losses in the SCOL must win if they are going to stand any chance to repeat as league champions.

Miami Trace is still unbeaten in league competition but the Panthers will have to come to Roundtown Jan. 21 and also have another clash with Greenfield McClain.

Circleville will have another crack at Greenfield on Feb. 11 when the Tigers travel to McClain.

WILMINGTON is 1-8 for the season, winless in the SCOL, but have played a tough out of league schedule.

The Hurricane's lone win came at the expense of Dayton Fairborn, 56-53, but the Wilmington squad has only had the home court advantage on two occasions this season.

Under new coach Buddy Bell the Hurricane uses a 3-2 offense paced by the fine outside shooting of Robert Raizik and Bill McClary.

Defensively they alternate with a man to man, 1-2-1 zone and a full court, 1-2-1, zone press.

Wilmington will probably go with Mark Carnahan, 6-foot-2, and John Halley, 5-foot-11, at the forwards, 6-foot-4 Chris Breuleux at center, Raizik, 5-foot-11, and either McClary, 5-foot-10, or Bruce Surface, 5-foot-10, at the guards.

McDowell Cagers Take Pair From Monroe Westfall

McDowell's seventh and eighth grade cagers both came up with victories Wednesday against Monroe Westfall on the latter's court.

The McDowell eighth graders had to battle for their lives in the closing minutes of the contest, after holding an advantage in the first three periods, to gain a 53-46 win.

McDowell led 12-1 at the end of the first frame, was out in front 23-16 at halftime and held a 39-33 advantage at the conclusion of three periods.

Monroe rallied to take a one-point lead in the final canto but McDowell came back to gain the win.

Jeff Reichelderfer led the winners with 18 points, Scott Allen had 13, Steve Rawlins 12, Bob Sargent eight and Lonnie Maxson two.

For Monroe, Reid, Karsner and Hildnbrand each netted 10 markers.

The McDowell seventh graders led all the way to come up with a 31-26 victory in a tight contest.

They were on top 8-4 at the end of the first frame, led 11-10 at the half, and was out in front 21-19 after three periods of play. Mark Skinner led McDowell with 11 points, Randy Pontius and Chuck Cave each had six and Doug Woods and Kenny Speakman had four apiece.

Dountz hooped 10 markers and Rawland nine for Monroe. Both McDowell squads are sporting 6-2 records for the year.

South Carolina Routs Manhattan, 116-78

By BERT ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Sports Writer
Danny Traylor was left on his own because of an injury to Tom Riker—and the hulking 7-foot junior more than made up for the absence of his forecourt colleague.

The 250-pound Traylor from Winston-Salem, N.C., played the best game of his collegiate career, scoring 37 points, grabbing 20 rebounds and blocking six shots Wednesday night in leading South Carolina's fourth-ranked basketball team to a 116-78 rout of Manhattan.

"He knew he had to do it alone, and he really came through," said South Carolina Coach Frank McGuire.

The 6-10 Riker sat on the bench in street clothes nursing a fractured bone in his left hand, suffered in Sunday's 72-71 setback to second-ranked Marquette.

McGuire said he directed his players to "go inside to Danny more during the second half, and he came through with some beautiful moves under the basket."

The victory boosted South Carolina's record to 8-2. Manhattan, 1-8, was led by 6-7 Ron Snyder.

Royals Stun L.A. Lakers, Win 108-107

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wednesday night was the kind of night National Basketball Association Commissioner Walter Kennedy dreams about:

Four games on the NBA schedule were decided by schedule—two were decided by two points.

What's more, the three teams with the best records in the NBA—Los Angeles, Milwaukee and Chicago—all were beaten, adding some support to the old claim that on any given night . . .

The Lakers, 39-3 on the season prior to Sunday, lost for the second time in three games when Tom Van Arsdale sank a 15-foot jumper with just one second showing on the clock to give the Cincinnati Royals a 108-107 decision over Los Angeles.

The Bucks, who ended Los Angeles' record 33-game winning streak Sunday, lost their second in a row when Lou Hudson poured in 20 points in the second half to lift Atlanta to a 104-102 victory over Milwaukee.

And the Bulls, trying to gain ground on Milwaukee in the NBA's Midwest Division race, were thwarted when Don Nelson tipped in a shot by JoJo White with three seconds left, then added a free throw to give the Boston Celtics a 113-112 decision over Chicago.

Danny Murtaugh Honored By Club

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Danny Murtaugh, who retired after leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 1971 World Series victory over the Baltimore Orioles, has been named the Columbus Touchdown Club's Manager of the Year.

Murtaugh will be honored Friday, Jan. 28, at the club's annual awards dinner for the benefit of the Olympic fund and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Manning with 23 points. Meanwhile, third-ranked North Carolina pulled away in the second half for an 81-61 victory over Clemson in an Atlantic Coast Conference game. Assistant coaches Bill Gothridge and John Lotz directed the Tar Heels in the second half after Head Coach Dean Smith was ejected by referee Lou Moser. Smith was tossed out and charged with two technical fouls for grabbing Moser's arm as the teams went off the court at halftime with North Carolina leading by only two points.

"It was a misunderstanding," Smith said afterward. "Tates Locke (Clemson coach) and I were going to talk to the officials about the calls in an aggressive game."

Bob McAdo's 28 points paced the Tar Heels, now 10-1.

Fifth-rated Louisville won its 10th in a row after an opening loss, downing Dayton 71-64 behind Jim Price's 25 points.

Unbeaten Virginia, the No. 8 team, won its 12th game, trouncing George Washington 97-76 as Barry Parkhill led the way with 23 points. Ronnie Run scored a career high 34 for George Washington.

Dwight Lamar, the nation's leading scorer, played despite the flu and a 101 temperature, but still managed to score 31 points, helping 13th-rated Southwestern Louisiana raise its record to 10-1 with a 99-79 romp over Eastern New Mexico. Roy Ebron, a 6-9 sophomore, led Southwestern with 35 points and 15 rebounds.

Hawaii, ranked 19th, posted its 12th victory in 13 starts, holding off Connecticut 77-71.

Marshall, rated 20th, increased its winning streak to seven games and its over-all record to 11-2, overpowering DePaul 102-76 as Russell Lee scored a season-high 33 points.

Tom Burleson, North Carolina State's 7-4 sophomore, poured in 30 points and snared 12 rebounds, sparking the Wolfpack to an 85-58 triumph over ACC rival Duke.

Larry Finch's 24 points paced Memphis State to an 82-65 victory over Louisiana State. Mark Wehrle and Dan McGuire split 44 points in guiding Rice to an 87-74 decision over Georgia Tech.

Sophomore Bill Knight's 26 points keyed Pitt's 91-76 victory over Davidson. West Virginia posted its sixth triumph in seven games, beating Bucknell 88-73 as Wil Robinson pumped in 24 points.

Toledo's high-flying Rockets breezed to their eighth consecutive victory and 10th in 11 games, scoring past Butler 78-55 with Tom Kozelko scoring 27 points.

Paul Erland, who finished with 38 points, tied the score at the end of regulation time with a 25-foot field goal, then hit six points in overtime, leading Dartmouth past Boston College 93-88. Lafayette, 8-1, got 36 points from Tracy Tripucka and rolled to a 100-64 victory over Columbia.

Travis Grant, the nation's college division scoring leader, collected 36 points as Kentucky State whipped Lincoln 106-90.

Smith, slipped past the host Flyers 71-64 for the second time this season.

Toledo, 10-1, tuned up for the battle with the Bobcats, rolling to its eighth straight triumph and handing Butler its worst setback of the season 78-55.

Elsewhere, Capital remained Ohio's lone unbeaten college five, putting away victory No. 10 with a 99-83 romp at Central State.

In other games, it was Ohio Wesleyan 93, Denison 70; Wittenberg 73, Otterbein 68 in overtime; Findlay 94, Bluffton 60; Rio Grande 104, Lander 92; Cleveland State 64, Akron 58; Ohio Dominican 91, Walsh 30 in overtime; Wooster 76, Mount Union 75; Youngstown State 70, Gannon 54.

Ohio's stellar play in the first half gave it a 44-31 halftime lead and the Bobcats never trailed although Kent once closed it to 71-68.

Tom Corde, who scored a game-high 23 points, put Ohio out of danger with a three-point play.

Frank Truitt, whose Kent team is now 1-1 in the Mid-American said, "We couldn't get any movement in the first half and didn't get any loose balls like we did in the second half."

Miami's must victory was paced by Darrell Dunlap with 17 points and the Redskins rolled into a 49-23 halftime lead. The loss dropped Western Michigan, led by Charlie Sidwell's 16 points, to an 0-2 conference mark.

Toledo's pressing man-to-man defense limited Butler to 26 per cent field goal shooting. Tom Kozelko provided the offensive punch for the Rockets with 27 points and 14 rebounds.

Smith had 28 points, but Louisville shut the 6-foot Flyer guard out the last 11 minutes to turn a close contest into a comfortable victory.

NO. 91-71

AN ORDINANCE DESIGNATING USE OF THE FORMER NATIONAL GUARD ARMORY PROPERTY FOR YMCA PURPOSES.

WHEREAS, the State of Ohio has conveyed to the City, the following premises situated in the northeast corner of said Lot No. 28 (now No. 442) in the City of Circleville, Ohio, County of Pickaway and in the City of Circleville, to-wit:

Being Lot Number Twenty-nine (29) in Old Huston and Company's First Addition to the Town (now City) of Circleville, State of Ohio, and now known as Lot Number Four hundred and forty-one (441) on the revised Plat of the numbering of the Lots of said City of Circleville, Ohio, also known as the "Market House" property, and the following described real estate, to-wit:

Beginning at the northeast corner of said Lot No. 28 (now No. 442) thence approximately west 25 feet along the north line of said Lot No. 28 (now No. 442) to an iron pin; thence approximately west 10 feet parallel to the east line of said Lot to an iron pin; thence approximately south 132 feet parallel to the east line of said Lot to the south line of said Lot to an iron pin; thence approximately east along the south line of said Lot 35 feet to the southeast corner of said Lot No. 28 (now No. 442); thence approximately east along an iron pin; thence approximately north along the east line of said Lot 165 feet to the beginning of an iron pin; and thence being known as "The Fire Department Lot" and being situated in the City of Circleville, County of Pickaway and State of Ohio.

Known as the Circleville National Guard Armory premises.

WHEREAS, the Pickaway County branch of the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA, an Ohio non-profit corporation now occupies and conducts a YMCA program for the residents of the City of Circleville, Ohio and Pickaway County, Ohio;

WHEREAS, the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA through its Pickaway County Branch, was instrumental in getting said premises conveyed to the City of Circleville from the State of Ohio;

WHEREAS, the YMCA program provides a recreation center which is desirable to continue and in pursuance to Section 755.12 et seq. Revised Code of Ohio, therefore, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE:

SECTION 1: That said National Guard premises be and the same are hereby designated and set aside to and for the exclusive use and control thereof vested in the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA for use as a YMCA for the residents of the City of Circleville and Pickaway County for so long as said Columbus Metropolitan YMCA desires same for such purpose and does in fact conduct such a program in which the use of the premises are an essential part thereof, and keeps the covenants hereinafter set forth, for a period not exceeding five years from effective date of this ordinance. Provided, however, that said premises shall be made available to City on a temporary or partial basis from time to time, when the City's use thereof shall not interfere with the regular YMCA program, without charge to the City therefor unless the use involves a cost ordinarily incurred in operation of the YMCA program.

SECTION 2: That Columbus Metropolitan YMCA by accepting the premises for the above purpose, agrees to pay all cost of operation and all repairs, alterations and improvements exceeding structural improvements or repairs as may be necessary to maintain the premises in as good a condition as it is now in, reasonable wear or tear or unavoidable casualty excepted; to keep the premises insured by a fire and extended coverage policy in the amount of $30,000.00 in an insurance company acceptable to the Director of Public Service to inspect said premises at any time and to make any necessary repairs for the preservation of the premises as he deems necessary.

SECTION 3: That this ordinance shall take full force and effect after the earliest period allowed by law.

NO. 91-71
AN ORDINANCE DESIGNATING USE OF THE FORMER NATIONAL GUARD ARMY PROPERTY FOR YMCA PURPOSES.
WHEREAS, the State of Ohio has conveyed to the City, the following premises situated in the State of Ohio, County of Pickaway and in the City of Circleville, to-wit:
Being Lot Number Twenty-nine (29) in Old, Huston and Company's First Addition to the Town (now City) of Circleville, State of Ohio, and now known as Lot Number Four hundred and forty-one (441) on the revised Plat of the new streeting of the City of Circleville, Ohio, also known as the "Market House" property, and the following described real estate, to-wit:
Beginning at the northeast corner of said Lot No. 28 (now No. 442) thence approximately west 23 feet along the north line of said Lot No. 28 (442) to an iron pin; then approximately south 33 feet parallel to the east line of said Lot to an iron pin; thence approximately west 10 feet parallel to the north line of said Lot to an iron pin; thence approximately south 132 feet parallel to the east line of said Lot to the south line of said Lot to an iron pin; thence approximately east along the south line of said Lot to an iron pin; thence approximately north along the east line of said Lot 163 feet to the beginning of an iron pin; said premises being known as "The Fire Department Lot" and being situated in the City of Circleville, County of Pickaway and State of Ohio.
Known as the Circleville National Guard Army premises.
WHEREAS, the Pickaway County branch of the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA, an Ohio non-profit corporation now occupies said premises and conducts a YMCA program for the residents of the City and Pickaway County, Ohio.
WHEREAS, the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA, through its Pickaway County Branch, is instrumental in getting said premises conveyed to the City of Circleville from the State of Ohio.
WHEREAS, the YMCA program provides a recreation center which is desirable to continue and in pursuance to Section 753.12 et seq. Revised Code of Ohio now therefore, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE:
SECTION 1: That said National Guard Army premises and site are hereby designated and set aside to, and exclusive authority and control thereof vest in the Columbus Metropolitan YMCA for use as a YMCA for the residents of the City of Circleville and Pickaway County for so long as said Columbus Metropolitan YMCA desires same for such purpose and does in fact conduct such a program in which the use of the premises are an essential part thereof, and keeps the covenants hereinafter set forth, but for a period not exceeding five years from effective date of this ordinance. Provided, however, that said premises shall be made available to City on a temporary or partial basis from time to time, when the City's use thereof, shall not interfere with the regular operation of the YMCA program.
SECTION 2: That Columbus Metropolitan YMCA by accepting the premises for the above purpose, agrees to pay all cost of operation and all repairs, alterations and improvements exceeding structural improvements or repairs as may be necessary to maintain the premises in as good a condition as it is now in reasonable wear or tear or unavoidable casualty excepted; to keep the premises insured by a fire and extended coverage policy in the amount of $300,000.00 in an insurance company acceptable to the Director of Public Service and to file said insurance policy with said Director; to protect and save City harmless and indemnified against any loss occasioned by or arising from or contract; to obtain at its own expense at all times, general liability insurance policy in the amount of $300,000.00 for each person and $500,000.00 for each occurrence in an insurance company acceptable to Director of Public Service, and to file said policy with said Director; and to permit the Director of Public Service to inspect said premises at any time and to make any necessary repairs for the preservation of the premises as he deems necessary.
SECTION 3: That this ordinance shall take full force and effect after the earliest period allowed by law.

Some books, written for young adults, are just too good to keep from the grownups. This week's column discusses some of the outstanding new titles on the library shelves.

Mary Calhoun, mistress of word magic, has written a great tale in "The White Witch of Kynance." Here is a story to entrance any teen-ager. It is about Jennet, wiser than most young girls who lived four centuries ago. Not for her the adage "Early wed, early bedded, early dead." She would become a white witch, with healing powers. She would live to a ripe old age, free and independent. How she learned the truth about witchcraft, found a pisky God, and loved Rob-Bob makes a memorable tale.

"Just Don't Bug Me" was the attitude of the sullen, hateful boy named Jonas. He expected a stiff lecture from the judge, then a return home with his flutery, weepy aunt. But no. He was being sent to live with his uncle. And the guy was a clown in a rodeo, of all things. Jonas existed inside a steel shell of his own making. Not his uncle, nor the friendly rodeo cowboys, nor pretty Beth could pierce it. But Coaly Bay, a stubborn horse, did what no human could. He made an outgoing human being of Joe. B. J. Berry is the author.

To be Ox, the son of Palm Beach nouveaux riches is not easy. First of all, Ox was fat. Then his crazy parents had these nutty ideas about how to help him. They took him to Mexico to see a cow, for pete's sake. All he needed to know was how the stupid animal manufactured milk! John Ney in "Ox: the Story of a Kid At the Top", has written with deep empathy of the plight of the poor little rich kid.

Two other excellent books with wide appeal are "Never Jam Today" by Carole Bolton and "To Kill a King" by Madeline Pollard. Miss Bolton's book is timely, though placed in a historical setting. It begins in 1917, when many young girls were swept up in the fight for voting privilege, and ends when women's suffrage is an accomplished fact. Court intrigue and the romance of the time of William the Conqueror play against each other in "To Kill a King."

The board ordered these "bumper discounts:"

—20 per cent for 1972 cars equipped with bumpers that can withstand a 5-mile-per-hour crash, front and rear, without damage.

—15 per cent for 1972 autos whose bumpers can sustain a front-end crash at 5 m.p.h. and a rear-end collision at 2½ m.p.h. with a stationary barrier.

—10 per cent for 1972 cars that can sustain a 5 m.p.h. front-end and 2½ m.p.h. rear-end collision without damage to lights or to fuel, exhaust, cooling or latching systems, or to the bumpers.

Federal standards require that all bumpers withstand a 5 m.p.h. collision, front and back, by 1975.

Cleveland Needs More Policemen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Former Cleveland Police Capt. George Sperber, who will become the city's safety director in about a month, says one of the most pressing needs of the police department is "probably the need for 1,000 additional policemen."

"But I am realistic enough to know we can't get all these men with the financial situation the way it is," he said Tuesday after announcing that he had accepted the post offered by Mayor Ralph Perk. "I'm going to try to work within the framework of what we've got until we get more money."

Next Step For Ronald Reagan To Come In 1974

By BILL SMALL
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Ronald Reagan cocked his head at a slight angle, gazed out at an audience of 1,000 of California's most influential business and industrial leaders, and began talking about his administration.

"Five years ago, our state budget was second in size to the federal government's," the Republican chief executive said. "Today, we are fourth—behind the federal government, New York State and New York City."

"Five years ago, there were 102,456 full-time Civil Service employees on the state payroll. When we ended the fiscal year in June there were 101,399 or 1,057 fewer than when we started."

When novice politician Ronald Reagan ran for governor in 1966, he pledged to bring business-like economy and efficiency to state government and these were the type of statistics that impressed that audience at the annual Sacramento Host Breakfast last September.

The litany went on: $800 million in spending bills vetoed, lower mental hospital population, fewer parolees returning to prison, 1,000 more miles of freeway; 970 highway safety projects; 40 anticrime bills, welfare reform, environmental protection.

Reagan's lips tightened and his voice continued in a sterner tone:

"There were plenty of doom-mongers charging that the state was moving backward, services declining. California's great promise and progress grinding to a halt," Reagan said.

But he insisted, "This was not at the cost of reduced service."

After five years in office there are perceptible streaks of gray in the former actor's swept-back dark hair. The creases in his face are deeper and the skin beneath his chin isn't quite as tight as when he was seen by millions each week as host of the television series "Death Valley Days."

At 60, Reagan is near a turning point in his successful political career. Pledged to serve only two terms as governor, he must decide whether to run for the U.S. Senate in 1974 or find some other role in public life. Or, he could retire to his 771-acre ranch in Riverside County southeast of Los Angeles.

Reagan's popularity with the voters, as measured in opinion polls, has declined. In June 1967 the California Poll said 41 per cent of those sampled rated him as doing a "good" job. Last September that fell to 28 per cent.

Public employees were unhappy over not getting any pay raise in his last budget. Higher education leaders still feud with Reagan over his tight budgets. And his efforts to cut back welfare spending have angered the poor, minority groups and the elderly.

But crowds still flock around when the governor appears in public. He is in demand as a speaker nationwide and there persists occasional talk among Republican conservatives about him as a potential national candidate.

Reagan rides to work in a black Lincoln limousine driven by a plain-clothes highway patrol officer and arrives about 9 a.m. Aides escort him from the Capitol basement garage to his first-floor office by a private, key-operated elevator.

Once inside his complex of offices, which house a staff of 100 at a cost of more than $1 million a year, Reagan is a virtual captive behind bullet-proof glass. The hall doors from his private study are always locked.

His day is taken up with Cabinet meetings, staff discussions, visits from legislators and an occasional public appearance.

Reagan normally holds Tuesday news conferences during legislative sessions, but they were less frequent last year after he was asked about a rumor that he did not have to pay any state income tax for 1970. The governor's office distributed a memo confirming the report, "because of business reverses."

Reagan, believed to be a millionaire because of investments before he became governor, earns $49,000 a year from his state salary. He refused to disclose anything else about his finances.

Synthetic Tobacco Seen In 3 Years

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A British chemical executive predicts that people will be smoking synthetic tobacco, mixed with the natural leaf, within three years.

Donald M. Gallagher, vice president of ICI America, said in an interview Tuesday tobacco growers should not be alarmed, since the relative safety of synthetic tobacco would lead to an increase in consumption of all types of tobacco.

Between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m., Reagan is driven two miles to the $175,000 white Tudor-style Reagan home in east Sacramento. The state pays the $15,- 000 a year rent.

Reagan's son Skipper, 13, attends private day school in Sacramento. Daughter Patti, 18, attends the University of Southern California.

Mrs. Reagan is a former Chicago debutante and Hollywood starlet.

If there have been subtle changes in Reagan the past five years, he remains consistent in his demand for economy in government and the belief that government should interfere with people's lives as little as possible.

No American Bumpers Meet Texas Standard

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A State Insurance Board order to cut premiums for Texans who have strong auto bumpers apparently will not be of much immediate help to drivers.

Donald O'Brien, chief of the board's auto insurance division, said Tuesday that "no domestic manufacturers have certified that their cars" meet the board's standards for discounts.

He said he only knew of two makes that meet them—"a couple of Saab models and a Mercedes-Benz model."

Saab is made in Sweden and Mercedes-Benz in Germany.

The board ordered these "bumper discounts":

—20 per cent for 1972 cars equipped with bumpers that can withstand a 5-mile-per-hour crash, front and rear, without damage.

—15 per cent for 1972 autos whose bumpers can sustain a front-end crash at 5 m.p.h. and a rear-end collision at 2½ m.p.h. with a stationary barrier.

If you're a good cook with evaporated milk... just wait 'til you try better for cooking...

Use it wherever you've been using evaporated milk, and see how much smoother and creamier tasting it is.

Whips up stiffer than evaporated milk, and you don't even have to chill it first.

So rich and natural, without a trace of the canned-milk taste of evaporated milk.

MILNOT

SO RICH IT WHIPS

better for you...

all the protein of fresh milk, fortified with vitamins A and D, but with no butterfat.
